Tel Aviv Terrorist Toll Tops 22 Dead

TEL AVIV (AP) — Three young Japanese terrorists hired by a Palestine guerrilla movement staged a massacre with submachine guns and grenades in the passenger terminal at Israel's international airport Tuesday night, killing at least 22 persons and wounding more than 70.

Travelers, relatives, bystanders and employees at the crowded airport were hit during the wild fusillade of gunfire and explosions loosed by three gunmen who disembarked from a Paris-Rome-Tel Aviv flight, pulled weapons from their baggage and started shooting.

A police superintendent said 22 were killed and 70 injured. But officials at hospitals where the bodies were taken said the death toll was 25, and wounded totaled more than 70.

After firing indiscriminately into the crowd, one of the terrorists shot up two parked planes, then blew himself up with a hand grenade. A second was killed by bullets fired by his comrades, and the third was captured alive after trying unsuccessfully to blow up a plane, police said.

The dead included at least 13 Puerto Ricans passing through the airport on a pilgrimage to Jerusalem and Prof. Aharon Katzir, former president of the Israel Academy of Sciences and head of the International Union of Pure and Applied Biophysics.

A 3-year-old girl was among the dead.

Among those who escaped injury were Carol Golden of New York, arriving for a vacation, and her brother Tom, who lives in Israel with his mother. A bullet gouged the mother's knee, but she was not hurt seriously.

"Are you kidding?" said Miss Golden when asked if she would stay for the month she had planned. "I'm getting out of here as soon as I can."

The 10-minute attack turned the customs hall and waiting room into a shambles of blood, human flesh, broken glass and parts of suitcases and bodies.

"It looked like a slaughterhouse," said one witness.

The Marxist Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine—PFLP—issued a statement in Beirut, Lebanon, claiming responsibility for the shooting. The captured terrorist told Israeli authorities he had been paid by a guerrilla organization, but he did not say which one.

Televised Debate Proves Milder Than Expected

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey has apologized for saying that Sen. George McGovern's tax plan made the South Dakotan "a fool," and both of the candidates have rejected any possibility of having Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace as a running mate.

The tone of the second televised confrontation between the two frontrunners for the Democratic presidential nomination was milder than their first encounter. It focused largely on McGovern's tax and defense proposals.

Early in Tuesday night's debate, Humphrey apologized for having suggested Sunday in Fresno, Calif., that McGovern would be a fool to propose what the Minnesotan termed confiscatory tax proposals.

The Minnesotan said, "That's unfortunate language and a man makes a mistake." He described McGovern as a fine man.

Both men appeared inhibited by the program format, which called for them to answer questions from four newsmen under limits that barred the free-wheeling exchanges of their first session Sunday night.

Humphrey, whose first reaction was an objection to the format, said the meetings with McGovern are "having a wonderful effect" on his effort to beat McGovern in next Tuesday's California primary. "It's like vitamins," the Minnesota senator declared.

Asked about the fact that questioning centered on McGovern's proposals, Humphrey said, "That's probably because he has more printed up." He said he was surprised there wasn't more questioning on his urban and environmental proposals.

At the outset of the special one-hour version of NBC's "Meet the Press," both candidates rejected Wallace as a possible vice presidential running mate while indicating they would support whichever of them wins the Democratic nomination.

State Air Cleanup Plans OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the Environmental Protection Agency today approved nine state and three territorial clean-air plans, but a day-old court order clouded the validity of his action.

That order, a major victory for environment groups, required Ruckelshaus to review the plans and grant final approval only if they give complete protection to air already cleaner than required by federal standards.

Pending that review, EPA Administrator William D. Ruckelshaus approved the complete clean-air plans of Alabama, Connecticut, Florida, Mississippi, New Hampshire, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oregon, West Virginia, Guam, Puerto Rico and American Samoa.

He approved some parts and rejected other segments of the plans submitted by other states and jurisdictions.

The law requires Ruckelshaus to impose federal regulations where state plans are deemed inadequate. But a prepared EPA statement said work is continuing at the state level and "some of the deficiencies that EPA identified in the plans could well be remedied by state action before EPA is required to promulgate its own regulations."

Bombs Shake Tehran

TEHRAN (AP) — A rash of bombs hit Tehran today, killing an Iranian woman, breaking both legs of a U.S. Air Force general and delaying President Nixon's schedule by 45 minutes.

One explosion occurred about 100 feet from the site of the President's final public appearance in Iran, at the tomb of the father of the Shah of Iran, where Nixon was to place a wreath. The bomb went off just outside the 10-foot wall around the tomb an hour before the President was due there.

Nixon's motorcade was delayed, but he went ahead with his appearance at the tomb of Reza Shah 20 miles outside Tehran.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said a car in which Brig. Gen. Harold L. Price was riding in a Tehran suburb hit an explosive device in the roadway, killing an Iranian woman standing nearby and breaking both the general's legs.

A third explosion shattered windows and damaged a side wall at the seven-story U.S. Information Service building in downtown Tehran.

There was a fourth explosion at a Pepsi-Cola plant.

"There is no indication whatsoever that the acts were aimed at the life of the President or members of his party," Ziegler told newsmen.

Police charged that the bombings were the work of Iran's Marxist guerrilla movement which has been waging a two-year bomb and bullet campaign against the Shah's regime.

Baghdad Radio, in neighboring Iraq, has been calling on all "patriotic Iranians" to disrupt Nixon's visit. The Iraqi regime is angered by U.S. support of Israel and is also contending with Iran for dominance in the Persian Gulf area.

Nixon seemed unruffled as he went through with the ceremony at the tomb.

Newsmen on the scene said the blast occurred about 100 feet from the spot where the President was to place a wreath an hour later at the tomb of Reza Shah, the father of the present ruler.

Larry Cook Selected Head Grid Coach At Circleville

By BILL McGAFFEY Herald Sports Editor

The Circleville Board of Education announced at noon today the hiring of Larry Cook, 29, of Toledo as the head football, coach and assistant track coach of the Tigers.

Cook was head grid coach at Willard High School for the past four years. He compiled a 14-25-1 record while competing as a member of the rugged Northern Ohio League.

LARRY COOK

He will replace Denny Williams who resigned the post after four years as head grid mentor.

The Northern Ohio League is comprised of four Class AAA schools, Shelby, Tiffin, Columbian, Bellevue and Galion, and four Class AA schools, Upper Sandusky, Norwalk, Bucyrus and Willard, of which Willard was the smallest school.

Prior to taking over as head coach, Cook was assistant line coach at Willard for four years.

"I believe in teaching good sound technique football and executing better than the opposition," Cook stated. "You have to stay away from the big mistakes in the game if the team is going to be successful," Cook continued.

Offensively Cook utilizes a multiple T offense with a 5-2 monster defense. Last year Willard had a 3-6-1 season mark and was 3-3-1 in league play.

Nicklaus Will Head OSU Fund Campaign

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University President Novice Fawcett said Tuesday professional golfer Jack Nicklaus will serve as national chairman of a drive to raise $5 million for a recreation center at the school.

The center would contain gymnasiums, swimming pools, handball, squash and tennis courts and other sports facilities.

Total cost of the complex is estimated at $10 million, with half of the cost to be paid with state capital improvement funds.

U.S. Grain Chief Eyes Private Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — A high-ranking Nixon administration farm official, deeply involved in U.S.-Soviet grain-trade talks, reportedly is quitting to take a job with a big grain supplier.

Industry sources say the job with Continental Grain Co. of New York has been accepted by Asst. Agriculture Secretary Clarence D. Palmy and that he will head up European operations for the giant firm in anticipation of new grain sales to the Soviets.

Continental, one of the world's largest, was the chief supplier last year in a sale of nearly three million tons of feed grain to the Soviet Union, the first major U.S. deal with the Soviets.

THE Pickaway County Sheriff's Department switched to short-sleeve summer uniforms today, and did they ever pick the wrong day.

Moscow in eight years.

Now, with Russia needing more grain to boost livestock production, Continental reportedly will employ Palmy to lay groundwork for more sales.

Palmy, asked Tuesday about the report, declined comment.

Although U.S.-Soviet trade expansion was not settled during President Nixon's week-long visit to Moscow, industry sources say some interim grain sales are likely in the near future.

Palmy has been in charge of international affairs and domestic farm programs for the department since he was named assistant secretary early in the Nixon administration three years ago.

He has a long association with U.S. and foreign agricultural problems and was a chief architect of current farm programs. Last April he headed a U.S. team to Moscow which opened formal grain-trade talks with the Soviets.

Moscow officials have indicated repeatedly they want to buy surplus U.S. grain to help increase production of meat, dairy products and poultry for Soviet consumers. Recent crop setbacks, particularly for winter wheat, have created some urgency.

President Plans Joint Address

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders announced today President Nixon will address a joint session of Congress Thursday night immediately after his return from his trip to Moscow.

The address, in the House chamber, is scheduled for 9:30 p.m. EDT.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Tuesday that Nixon should make such a report to Congress.

trition said the department report was too critical of the program.

The USDA evaluation of 60 summer feeding programs nationwide found that meals were served to ineligible persons, some food was substandard or spoiled and delivery schedules were inconsistent.

The study found also that some adult staff members ate free meals intended for children and billed for reimbursement.

ment and that at some feeding sites conditions were so unsanitary that health hazards existed.

Record keeping was so inadequate that the Agriculture Department says it doesn't know just how many children were served by last year's program.

Of the USDA survey, Nancy Amidei, a staff member of the Senate nutrition committee, said:

"We've checked out some of the charges and, for example, where we found adults eating on the program sites, extra meals were ordered for them by program sponsors but the sponsors didn't charge the Agriculture Department for those meals."

"The people who did the survey were only out to see things that didn't work the way they were supposed to. The report doesn't say anything good about any program surveyed," she said.

The USDA survey said also that on many program sites no required recreation program existed and other program requirements were violated as well.

"USDA never told the cities what its requirements were," Miss Amidei said in an interview. "It never defined what constitutes a recreation program, never defined any other requirements, either."

The Agriculture Department budgeted $25.5 million for the 1972 summer program, far short of the $52.5 million the nation's mayors have told Congress they need to run an adequate program this year. President Nixon has asked Congress to appropriate $50 million for this year's program, due to begin in June, but Congress has not acted.

Senate OKs Legal Liquor In Vote For 18-Year-Olds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Responding to a lawmaker's plea to "give our young people a vote of confidence," the Ohio Senate included drinking privileges in a bill it passed Tuesday to lower the age of majority to 18.

The House, meanwhile, approved legislation to permit state subsidies to parents of nonpublic school children, despite a promised court challenge.

Action on major legislation by both houses came as the 109th General Assembly raced toward adjournment in two weeks.

The Senate bill, passed 31-1 and sent to the House, would give all persons between the ages of 18 and 21 adult rights and responsibilities, including signing of contracts, serving on juries, marrying without parental consent, inheritance and management of property and becoming policemen or firemen.

The right to drink came in the form of an amendment offered by Sen. Donald Lukens, R-4 Middletown, who said, "We're not voting for drunken revels or the right to go out and get plastered. They (18-year-olds) can already do that."

The amendment passed 19-13. The House bill to aid the parents of nonpublic school students passed 86-5 after debate over whether it was constitutional.

The attempt, sponsored by Rep. Norman A. Murdock, R-70 Cincinnati, came in the wake of threats of lawsuits based on previous court rulings on the separation of church and state.

Murdock, chairman of the House Health, Education and Welfare Committee, admitted the bill had "only a 50-50" chance of being upheld constitutionally.

Murdock designed the bill to get around previous court rulings declaring parochial school aid by the state unconstitutional. The latest version would provide $90 per year per student as a credit against the state income tax of the parents of some 300,000 nonpublic students, 97 per cent of them Roman Catholic.

The U.S. Supreme Court in 1971 overturned Rhode Island and Pennsylvania laws—almost identical to the one in Ohio—which put the aid in the form of teachers salaries subsidies.

The General Assembly, as part of last year's budget-tax bill, allocated $61 million for direct grants to parents themselves.

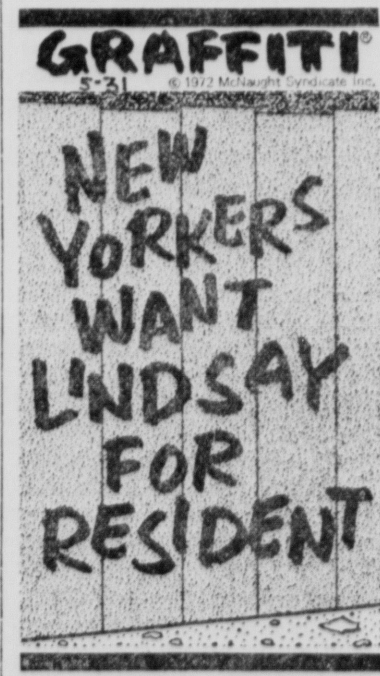

A three-judge U.S. District Court in Columbus struck that legislation down in April.

Opponent Raps A-Plant Hearing

CINCINNATI (AP) — Opponents of a nuclear power plant proposed for nearby Moscow have been "effectively" barred from asking questions Thursday at a public hearing, a molecular geneticist opposed to the plant says.

Dr. David Fankhauser of near Cincinnati held a news conference Tuesday to voice opposition to rejection of his petition and those of others for permission to intervene in the hearing.

The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission Safety and Licensing Board will hold the hearing in suburban Sharonville.

5 Children Die In Blast

Bomb Shelter Explosion Probed

VALDESE, N.C. (AP) — An explosion ripped through a bomb shelter dug into the hillside at the home of a textile executive, killing five children.

Fire Chief A. O. Anderson said the children apparently were playing on the hillside right above the bomb shelter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Garrou at the time of the explosion Tuesday.

Anderson said one child's body was found in a street at the bottom of the hill. The other bodies fell into the pit roof when the blast blew off the roof of the shelter.

Garrou's 12-year-old daughter Jean was one of the victims. The others were identified as Donald Robinson Jr., 14, and his sister Regina, 12; Gloria Hammond, 12, and 19-year-old Michael Powell.

Cynthia Picou, 10, escaped with only minor injury, according to a spokesman at Valdesse General Hospital.

Dick Robinson, father of Donald and Regina, said he and his wife and Garrou were the first on the scene.

"I couldn't even tell you what it was like," Robinson said as sobbing relatives attempted to comfort him and his wife.

"Gina (Regina) was thrown plumb down into a street in front of the shelter about 50 to 100 feet away from it," Mrs. Robinson said. "I found her lying there and it was so awful, so awful."

Cause of the blast, being investigated by federal and state agents, was not immediately determined.

Anderson quoted Garrou, an executive with Alba Waldesian, Inc., as saying the shelter was kept locked. Its entrance was at the foot of the hill.

Death Penalty Drive Pushed

Backers of a drive to place the death penalty issue on the November ballot plan to push ahead in the wake of a U.S. Supreme Court decision not to review California's ban on the penalty.

More than the necessary 520,806 signatures have been obtained. But the proponents of the initiative believe they need about 800,000 to be sure they have enough valid signatures.

The deadline is June 9 and some backers are seriously concerned they will miss the deadline. The initiative would put the issue to voters for a decision.

State Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger, who had asked the federal court to review the state ruling, said Tuesday's decision came as no surprise.

"We were aware of the fact that traditionally where the state Supreme Court says its ruling is based on state law the U.S. court won't hear an appeal," he said.

The attempt, sponsored by Rep. Norman A. Murdock, R-70 Cincinnati, came in the wake of threats of lawsuits based on previous court rulings on the separation of church and state.

Murdock, chairman of the House Health, Education and Welfare Committee, admitted the bill had "only a 50-50" chance of being upheld constitutionally.

Murdock designed the bill to get around previous court rulings declaring parochial school aid by the state unconstitutional. The latest version would provide $90 per year per student as a credit against the state income tax of the parents of some 300,000 nonpublic students, 97 per cent of them Roman Catholic.

The U.S. Supreme Court in 1971 overturned Rhode Island and Pennsylvania laws—almost identical to the one in Ohio—which put the aid in the form of teachers salaries subsidies.

The General Assembly, as part of last year's budget-tax bill, allocated $61 million for direct grants to parents themselves.

A three-judge U.S. District Court in Columbus struck that legislation down in April.

5 Children Die In Blast

Bomb Shelter Explosion Probed

VALDESE, N.C. (AP) — An explosion ripped through a bomb shelter dug into the hillside at the home of a textile executive, killing five children. Fire Chief A. O. Anderson said the children apparently were playing on the hillside right above the bomb shelter at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Garrou at the time of the explosion Tuesday.

Anderson said one child's body was found in a street at the bottom of the hill. The other bodies fell into the pit left when the blast blew off the roof of the shelter.

Garrou's 12-year-old daughter Jean was one of the victims. The others were identified as Donald Robinson Jr., 14, and his sister Regina, 12; Gloria Hammond, 12, and 19-year-old Michael Powell.

Cynthia Picou, 10, escaped with only minor injury, according to a spokesman at Valdese General Hospital.

Dick Robinson, father of Donald and Regina, said he and his wife and Garrou were the first on the scene.

"I couldn't even tell you what it was like," Robinson said as sobbing relatives attempted to comfort him and his wife.

"Gina (Regina) was thrown plumb down into a street in front of the shelter about 50 to 100 feet away from it," Mrs. Robinson said. "I found her lying there and it was so awful, so awful."

Cause of the blast, being investigated by federal and state agents, was not immediately determined.

Anderson quoted Garrou, an executive with Alba Waldesian, Inc., as saying the shelter was kept locked. Its entrance was at the foot of the hill.

Death Penalty Drive Pushed

Backers of a drive to place the death penalty issue on the November ballot plan to push ahead in the wake of a U.S. Supreme Court decision not to review California's ban on the penalty.

More than the necessary 520,806 signatures have been obtained. But the proponents of the initiative believe they need about 800,000 to be sure they have enough valid signatures.

The deadline is June 9 and some backers are seriously concerned they will miss the deadline. The initiative would put the issue to voters for a decision.

State Atty. Gen. Evelle J. Younger, who had asked the federal court to review the state ruling, said Tuesday's decision came as no surprise.

"We were aware of the fact that traditionally where the state Supreme Court says its ruling is based on state law the U.S. court won't hear an appeal," he said.

Charges Lodged Against Ironton Man

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — First-degree murder and shooting with intent to kill charges were lodged Tuesday against Arnold Messinger, 31, of Ironton.

Messinger is accused of killing Melvin Blankenship, 29, of Ironton and wounding two other persons during a shooting incident at a Lawrence County tavern Sunday night.

Lunch Program For Needy Children Ripped In Report

By JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says its program last summer to feed needy children was riddled with inadequate planning, waste and mismanagement.

Often, food did not get to children who needed it most, according to a USDA study of its $29-million program.

A staff member of the Senate's Select Committee on Nutrition said the department report was too critical of the program.

The USDA evaluation of 60 summer feeding programs nationwide found that meals were served to ineligible persons, some food was substandard or spoiled and delivery schedules were inconsistent.

The study found also that some adult staff members ate free meals intended for children and billed for reimbursement.

ment and that at some feeding sites conditions were so unsanitary that health hazards existed.

Record keeping was so inadequate that the Agriculture Department says it doesn't know just how many children were served by last year's program.

Of the USDA survey, Nancy Amidei, a staff member of the Senate nutrition committee,

"We've checked out some of the charges and, for example, where we found adults eating on the program sites, extra meals were ordered for them by program sponsors but the sponsors didn't charge the Agriculture Department for those meals."

"The people who did the survey were only out to see things that didn't work the way they were supposed to. The report doesn't say anything good about any program surveyed," she said.

The USDA survey said also that on many program sites no required recreation program existed and other program requirements were violated as well.

"USDA never told the cities what its requirements were," Miss Amidei said in an interview. "It never defined what constitutes a recreation program, never defined any other requirements, either."

The Agriculture Department budgeted $25.5 million for the 1972 summer program, far short of the $52.5 million the nation's mayors have told Congress they need to run an adequate program this year. President Nixon has asked Congress to appropriate $50 million for this year's program, due to begin in June, but Congress has not acted.

DOUBLE ACCIDENTS — No charges were filed by Sheriff's Deputies Robert Hoover and Phil Brown as they investigated the pictured accidents Tuesday. The first mishap left Larry D. Spires, 29, Route 1, Circleville, in Berger Hospital. He is being treated for back and shoulder injuries and a head laceration. The deputies say

he lost control of his small car on Route 56 at the Earnhart Hill, drove in the right berm for 99 feet, left the built-up portion of the highway for 102 feet while the car turned several times in the air and crashed into a tree in the yard of Ray Parks, Route 4. Spires was thrown from the auto 23 feet from where it came to rest. The semi-truck accident occurred 14 minutes later when driver Roger Lee McClaskey, 30, Wellston, crested the hill and couldn't stop his rig on the slippery pavement. He narrowly missed clipping the ambulance carrying Spires to the hospital and avoided a head-on collision with a stopped auto by driving into the left ditch of a field owned by Martha Hitler, 490 E. Franklin St. In the top picture is Spires' demolished car. McClaskey is being helped from his overturned truck by Jack Mader and two other men in the bottom picture. His cargo of 50,000 pounds of coal is still in the field.

Bombs . . .

(Continued from Page 1) Debris was thrown into the air and surrounding trees were shaken. Later two sticks of dynamite were found in the area, it was said.

After the ceremony, the President was to meet with the Shah. That meeting was delayed 45 minutes.

The bomb, apparently a home-made dynamite device, damaged a boundary wall at the tomb, which is in an open space near a gold-domed mosque.

The road from Tehran to the royal tomb was sealed off an hour before Nixon's motorcade was to pass, and hundreds of uniformed police and plain clothesmen lined the route and mingled with the crowd.

The bomb in an alley at the side of the USIS building went off before most people had arrived for work. It blasted a gaping hole in the wall of the building, and smashed every window on one side. Homes within a radius of 100 yards also were damaged.

May Primary Causes Deficit For Board Of Elections

William Stout, chairman of the Pickaway County Board of Elections, informed Commissioners Dick T. Tootle, Wayne Hines and Charles Morris Monday that an additional $6,000 may be needed by the board before the November General Election.

Stout said the added cost of paper ballots for the May Primary would leave the board $5,350 and possibly more short at the end of the year if the money is not added to the election board funds. He noted it will cause no problem until November.

Commissioners have requested the state to reimburse the board of elections for the added cost of the paper ballots. However, Stout said there appears to be slight chance the state legislature will authorize the reimbursement. Commissioners must make up the deficit in the board of elections budget if the state doesn't.

Larry Cook . . .

(Continued from Page 1) According to Fritz Jacobs, superintendent of Circleville schools, nearly 50 applicants were received for the job with the field being narrowed to five before Cook was selected for the post.

"We were looking for a man who is energetic, knowledgeable and can get the job done," Jacobs commented, "and we feel that Cook is the man we were looking for to do the job."

Jacobs announced that Jim Lint and Brent Bell will remain as assistant coaches with John Glanton, freshman coach, moving in as an assistant varsity coach.

Dale Harger, a recent graduate of Wilmington College, will take over as freshman football coach and assistant varsity wrestling coach.

Tom Cole, who played his varsity football at Otterbain College, will be the new Circleville Junior High grid coach.

SUPPLEMENTAL contracts were offered to Mrs. Angeline Rinehart, junior high cheerleader adviser. Miss McCourt, who previously held the position, declined the job for the coming term. Mrs. Judith Luft has agreed to take on additional duties as junior high yearbook, newspaper, dramatics adviser.

Vacancies in staffing still remaining include fifth and sixth grade at Walnut, sixth at Ashville, second at Scioto, English-social studies at the high school.

The board has yet to employ an assistant football coach, a head wrestling coach, audio-visual coordinator, high school cheerleader adviser and intramural coordinators at Walnut, Scioto and Ashville.

DOUBLE ACCIDENTS — No charges were filed by Sheriff's Deputies Robert Hoover and Phil Brown as they investigated the pictured accidents Tuesday. The first mishap left Larry D. Spires, 29, Route 1, Circleville, in Berger Hospital. He is being treated for back and shoulder injuries and a head laceration. The deputies say

he lost control of his small car on Route 56 at the Earnhart Hill, drove in the right berm for 99 feet, left the built-up portion of the highway for 102 feet while the car turned several times in the air and crashed into a tree in the yard of Ray Parks, Route 4. Spires was thrown from the auto 23 feet from where it came to rest. The semi-truck accident occurred 14 minutes later when driver Roger Lee McCaskey, 30, Wellston, crested the hill and couldn't stop his rig on the slippery pavement. He narrowly missed clipping Spires' ambulance carrying Spires to the hospital and avoided a head-on collision with a stopped

Man Arrested In Tape Theft

A 19-year-old Indiana man was arrested 1 a.m. this morning by city police and charged with malicious tampering with an automobile.

According to the report of Ptl. Ronald Smith police had been informed that Steven W. Slater, Libert Center, was in possession of a tape player taken from a car May 23.

Smith spotted Slater's car in the parking lot at the Kroger store off Lancaster Pike. He approached the vehicle and found Slater asleep on the seat. A search of the car turned up a tape player that Slater said he had bought from a fellow for $20.

Smith took the serial number of the player and notified Slater he would check it out. About 10 minutes later, Slater called the police station and asked to see Smith. He admitted taking the tape player and was arrested by Smith.

Bombs . . .

Debris was thrown into the air and surrounding trees were shaken. Later two sticks of dynamite were found in the area, it was said.

After the ceremony, the President was to meet with the Shah. That meeting was delayed 45 minutes.

The bomb, apparently a home-made dynamite device, damaged a boundary wall at the tomb, which is in an open space near a gold-domed mosque.

The road from Tehran to the royal tomb was sealed off an hour before Nixon's motorcade was to pass, and hundreds of uniformed police and plain clothesmen lined the route and mingled with the crowd.

The bomb in an alley at the side of the USIS building went off before most people had arrived for work. It blasted a gaping hole in the wall of the building, and smashed every window on one side. Homes within a radius of 100 yards also were damaged.

May Primary Causes Deficit For Board Of Elections

William Stout, chairman of the Pickaway County Board of Elections, informed Commissioners Dick T. Tootle, Wayne Hines and Charles Morris Monday that an additional $6,000 may be needed by the board before the November General Election.

Stout said the added cost of paper ballots for the May Primary would leave the board $5,350 and possibly more short at the end of the year if the money is not added to the election board funds. He noted it will cause no problem until November.

Commissioners have requested the state to reimburse the board of elections for the added cost of the paper ballots. However, Stout said there appears to be slight chance the state legislature will authorize the reimbursement. Commissioners must make up the deficit in the board of elections budget if the state doesn't.

Stout noted the cost had been kept at a minimum locally. One of the big savings occurred

Larry Cook . . .

According to Fritz Jacobs, superintendent of Circleville schools, nearly 50 applicants were received for the job with the field being narrowed to five before Cook was selected for the post.

"We were looking for a man who is energetic, knowledgeable and can get the job done," Jacobs commented, "and we feel that Cook is the man we were looking for to do the job."

Jacobs announced that Jim Lint and Brent Bell will remain as assistant coaches with John Glanton, freshman coach, moving in as an assistant varsity coach.

Dale Harger, a recent graduate of Wilmington College, will take over as freshman football coach and assistant varsity wrestling coach.

Tom Cole, who played his varsity football at Otterbein College, will be the new Circleville Junior High grid coach.

Environmental Collision

The possibility that the Ford Motor Co. — one of the nation's largest employers — may be compelled to shut down for a period of time in order to meet the requirements of the Environmental Protection Agency has brought the environmentalists and American industry on a major collision course.

Behind Ford's problem is the claim that unauthorized adjustments were made to 1973 model engines during tests for more stringent exhaust emission controls which go into effect this year. There is no suggestion the products were faulty, only that the tests were not conducted properly.

The significant point is that one man — the head of the EPA — apparently now possesses the power to shut down a major company, or presumably an entire industry, because it has not complied completely with his agency's latest standards. That is awesome power for an unelected individual to hold. Perhaps the courts should be given a say in the matter.

At the moment, Ford, which had planned to introduce its new models in August, faces a new testing program which could last as long as 100 days. Which brings us to another interesting point.

The manner in which these tests are conducted places the burden on the manufacturer to prove his products meet the changing standards. He is presumed guilty until he proves his innocence.

As Henry Ford 2nd., chairman of the Ford Motor Co., said, "it is fair to say we are in one hell of a lot of trouble."

Military Recall

If all the front-line tanks now in the hands of the U.S. Army were recalled because of major defects, according to a study made by the General Accounting Office, there wouldn't be enough left to guard the front gate to the White House.

Last year the GAO inspected the equipment of four Army divisions: the 1st and 2nd Armored, Ft. Hood, Tex.; the 4th Infantry, Ft. Carson, Col., and the 82nd Airborne, Ft. Bragg N.C. A report on conditions found was submitted to Congress 12 months ago and only recently made public.

Only the 82nd Airborne was found by the investigators to be in satisfactory fighting condition. According to Rep. Les Aspin who made the GAO findings public, about 83 per cent of the M60 tanks available to the two armored divisions had so many deficiencies they could not perform "effectively."

Sixty-six per cent of all tracked vehicles in the 2nd Armored were classified as deficient, and 70 per cent of the 4th Infantry's recoilless rifles inspected by the GAO were defective. Given that state of affairs, perhaps the modern soldier should take up a new hobby: archery.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions: Marriages between circus freaks are more lasting than those between movie stars. They usually are happier, too. The reason is not only that the average freak has a better character and a more attractive personality than the average movie star, although that is certainly part of the explanation. The careers of married circus freaks are less antagonistic to one another than the careers of married movie stars. And freaks aren't psychologically as dependent on audience approval as movie stars are.

Even people crowded in a subway continue their ride feeling less grumpy after they have made room for a child carrying a handful of flowers.

There is always room in life for the right thing.

If every sane man on earth liked thinking better than eating, drinking or making love, I know what I'd like to be. I'd like to be the village idiot.

Stuffed shirts do not get either the credit or respect they deserve in life. They are greatly needed object lessons in this world. They provide us with visible warnings of things we don't want to let ourselves become, no matter what else time makes of us while mutilating our dreams and goals. A stuffed shirt is a warning symbol on the road downhill to human bankruptcy. A stuffed shirt often may have many admirable qualities. For example, he may be so sincere in his overinflated pomposity that he is totally devoid of hypocrisy. Stuffed-shirtism in the old is always pathetic but sometimes charming in a crusty sort of way. But a young stuffed shirt is always a comic delight in a time when there are so few things for the bystander to laugh at.

The biggest mistake most men make in this world is that they wear dreams too sizes too large for them and shoes one size too small.

The only nice thing you can say about going to hell is that by the time a man gets there he is too tired to complain about the accommodations.

Blondes get the hiccups more often than brunettes do.

One of the biggest economic puzzles of my lifetime to me is how come this generation manages to spend most of its time sitting in cars and swivel chairs but still buys fewer two-pants suits than the previous generation did, which was supposed to have been on its toes all the time.

The Business World

By MILES SMITH (For John Cuniff)

NEW YORK (AP) — A survey conducted for an organization representing a cross-section of American industry shows 55 per cent of the general public believes labor unions have grown too powerful and 68 per cent believe recent strikes and labor troubles "have seriously hurt the country."

Opinion Research Corp., Princeton, N.J., has been making the surveys annually since December 1966 for the Labor Law Study Committee, which was formed to study the effect of labor laws on collective bargaining and to recommend changes it feels are necessary. The latest survey was made between Nov. 15 and Dec. 6 last year. It consisted of 2,003 interviews among the adult population.

On the subject "Unions today have grown too powerful, I would like to see their power reduced," in addition to the general public's 55 per cent approval of the statement, 24 per cent said union power is about right, 14 per cent said unions are not strong enough and 7 per cent had no opinion.

By age groups, the "too powerful" vote was 50 per cent among those 18 to 29 years; 56 per cent among those 30 to 39 years; 57 per cent among the 40-49 group; 60 per cent among the 50-59 group, and 56 per cent among those over 60. Among union members themselves, 41 per cent said unions have too much power. For members of union families the figure was 50 per cent and for nonunion families it was 60 per cent.

On the question "In your opinion, have recent strikes and labor trouble seriously hurt the country as a whole, or haven't they had that much effect?" The general public's 68 per cent vote saying "seriously hurt" was accompanied by 20 per cent who said they had not had that much effect and 12 per cent without an opinion.

The 68 per cent figure represented an increase of 12 per cent since the 1967 survey and a 4 per cent increase since 1970.

On the question of government intervention in strikes, 63 per cent of the general public in the poll favored intervention, compared to 57 per cent a year earlier. Twenty-three per cent were against intervention and 12 per cent had no opinion. Among union members 53 per cent favored intervention, compared with 50 per cent in 1970.

Genocide In Bangladesh?

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Ever since Herbert Hoover fed the Belgians the U.S. has enjoyed the reputation of being the great humanitarian nation. But, at the moment, we are being strangely selective in withholding a helping hand to the Biharis, a Moslem sect that is caught within the new nation of Bangladesh, whose Bengali people were themselves savagely persecuted when they, as inhabitants of East Pakistan, were appealing to the Indian government to come in and save them from their West Pakistan oppressors.

The Biharis are variously estimated as comprising a Moslem subgroup of anywhere from 1.5 to 6 million. (Statistics, in Asia, are notoriously elastic.) They originally moved into what was then East Pakistan from Indian Bihar, to get away from the Hindu Indian majority. The mistake that some of them made was to side with the West Pakistani army before the Indian government, taking matters into its own suddenly martial hands, decided that the East Pakistanis should be split off from Greater Pakistan and accorded recognition as an independent nation.

Not all the Biharis sided with the West Pakistanis, but there were enough to incur the hatred of Bengali guerrillas who, unresponsive to their own new government, have continued to flood to Bihar residential areas even to massacre Biharis who object.

Bihari friends in the U.S. have been trying to call attention to the fact, as reported in the Times of London, that not even the Red Cross can get food to Bihar residential areas in Bangladesh. They call it a clear case of genocide.

The UN listens to complaints, but does nothing except pass the buck. When 2,000,000 Biafrans were being harried to defect by the Nigerians and cut off from the outside world, church societies even organized an airlift to bring them food. But there is no similar attempt by our churches, or by U.S. relief agencies, to get into Bihar areas.

Senator Teddy Kennedy, who was active on behalf of the Biafrans and who favors putting the UN into Ulster to assure justice to the Roman Catholic minority of Northern Ireland, knows something about the problem of the Biharis, but he tends to excuse the situation. The Bangladesh government, he says, has a "sincere" commitment to the "care and protection of the Biharis communities." The "sincerity," however, is not apparent to observers who note that U.S. food and medicines ticketed for Bihar relief sometimes wind up in the hands of needy Bangladesh citizens.

Senator Kennedy's immobile stance is understandable: after all, he had no part in the U.S. policy that favored "tilting" toward West Pakistan in the recent Indian-Pakistani war. Since Kennedy took the side of the Bengalis of East Pakistan when they were fighting alongside the Indians to create the new nation of Bangladesh, it is perhaps too much to hope for a quick switch from the old underdog to an active champion of a new underdog. But the U.S. government, which threw its weight to West Pakistan in hopes of preventing the war, has no emotional investment in the cause of Bangladesh superiority. We could afford to ask for even-handed relief in the distribution of Red Cross and UN supplies.

The possibility occurs that we are bending over backward to get into the good graces of Bangladesh now that the new country has had general recognition. Moreover, we are trying to repair our fences in India. This suggests a swing from one extreme to the other. Presumably we have things that Bangladesh needs, food and medicines included. There should be room for maneuver.

The Indian government itself should be interested in promoting justice and calming the waters within the new state of Bangladesh. If the old hatreds in the region cannot be mollified, the government of the new country is bound to be torn apart by the struggle between Maoist and Moscow Communists. This could spill over into the Indian State of West Bengal, where a Communist faction is claiming the same right of secession that India's Indira Gandhi encouraged when Bangladesh was still part of Greater Pakistan.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

How can you prevent a sneeze when you are in a situation that might be embarrassing? Miss A.N.M., Ind.

Dear Miss M.: In a recent edition of the Medical World News, I came across a charming item.

Dr. Morris Fishbein, famous author and medical columnist, had uncovered a statement made in 1785 by the novelist Fanny Burney. She said, "In the presence of the King and Queen, you must not sneeze. If you have a vehement cold, you must take no notice of it; if your nose-membranes feel a great irritation, you must hold your breath."

"If a sneeze still insists on making its way, you must oppose it by keeping your teeth grinding together."

"If the violence of this method breaks a blood vessel, you must break the blood vessel, but do not sneeze."

Costello, of the famous Abbott and Costello team, somehow always had to sneeze when secrecy was most needed. He suppressed the sneeze by firmly pressing the area over his upper lip.

It seemed to work for him. It works for me, too. Try it.

I was told that I have a hiatus hernia. Only a single X-ray was taken of my chest. Is that enough to make such a diagnosis?

Mr. F. G., Ore.

Dear Mr. G.: The diagnosis of a hiatus hernia can sometimes be made by the history alone. A "single X-ray" must have been distinctly significant for the diagnosis to have been made. Sometime it takes a great many complex studies before this condition can be recognized.

A hiatus hernia is a condition in which a small portion of the stomach forces its way up into the chest cavity.

Normally, the esophagus goes into the stomach through a small opening in the diaphragm.

When this opening is abnormally enlarged, the stomach protrudes into the chest cavity. That is why a hiatus hernia is sometimes called a "diaphragmatic" hernia.

This condition can masquerade in many different forms and can present confusing symptoms.

In difficult cases, extensive X-ray studies are done, with barium. Only seldom is a lighted tube, the esophagoscope, passed through the esophagus to better visualize the area.

You can be sure that if your doctor needed more confirmatory studies, he would have performed them.

Excessive blinking of the eyes is frequently considered a habit "tic" of psychological origin. It must be remembered that it can also be a sign of an eye condition that needs intensive treatment.

Union Candidate Hits Bad Reclamation

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The disabled coal miner nominated by Miners for Democracy as that group's candidate for the presidency of the United Mine Workers union says the dissident miners have taken an especially strong stand on strip mine reclamation.

"We're not happy with this business about planting a little grass and calling that reclamation," says Arnold Miller of Ohley, W. Va.

They'll Do It Every Time

Environmental Collision

The possibility that the Ford Motor Co. — one of the nation's largest employers — may be compelled to shut down for a period of time in order to meet the requirements of the Environmental Protection Agency has brought the environmentalists and American industry on a major collision course.

Behind Ford's problem is the claim that unauthorized adjustments were made to 1973 model engines during tests for more stringent exhaust emission controls which go into effect this year. There is no suggestion the products were faulty, only that the tests were not conducted properly.

The significant point is that one man — the head of the EPA — apparently now possesses the power to shut down a major company, or presumably an entire industry, because it has not complied completely with his agency's latest standards. That is awesome power for an unelected individual to hold. Perhaps the courts should be given a say in the matter.

At the moment, Ford, which had planned to introduce its new models in August, faces a new testing program which could last as long as 100 days. Which brings us to another interesting point.

The manner in which these tests are conducted places the burden on the manufacturer to prove his products meet the changing standards. He is presumed guilty until he proves his innocence.

As Henry Ford 2nd., chairman of the Ford Motor Co., said, "it is fair to say we are in one hell of a lot of trouble."

Military Recall

If all the front-line tanks now in the hands of the U.S. Army were recalled because of major defects, according to a study made by the General Accounting Office, there wouldn't be enough left to guard the front gate to the White House.

Last year the GAO inspected the equipment of four Army divisions: the 1st and 2nd Armored, Ft. Hood, Tex.; the 4th Infantry, Ft. Carson, Col., and the 82nd Airborne, Ft. Bragg N.C. A report on conditions found was submitted to Congress 12 months ago and only recently made public.

Only the 82nd Airborne was found by the investigators to be in satisfactory fighting condition. According to Rep. Les Aspin who made the GAO findings public, about 83 per cent of the M60 tanks available to the two armored divisions had so many deficiencies they could not perform "effectively."

Sixty-six per cent of all tracked vehicles in the 2nd Armored were classified as deficient, and 70 per cent of the 4th Infantry's recoilless rifles inspected by the GAO were defective. Given that state of affairs, perhaps the modern soldier should take up a new hobby: archery.

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions: Marriages between circus freaks are more lasting than those between movie stars. They usually are happier, too. The reason is not only that the average freak has a better character and a more attractive personality than the average movie star, although that is certainly part of the explanation. The careers of married circus freaks are less antagonistic to one another than the careers of married movie stars. And freaks aren't psychologically as dependent on audience approval as movie stars are.

Even people crowded in a subway continue their ride feeling less grumpy after they have made room for a child carrying a handful of flowers.

Stuffed shirts do not get either the credit or respect they deserve in life. They are greatly needed object lessons in this world. They provide us with visible warnings of things we don't want to let ourselves become, no matter what else time makes of us while mutilating our dreams and goals. A stuffed shirt is a warning symbol on the road downhill to human bankruptcy. A stuffed shirt often may have many admirable qualities. For example, he may be so sincere in his overinflated pomposity that he is totally devoid of hypocrisy. Stuffed-shirtism in the old is always pathetic but sometimes charming in a crusty sort of way. But a young stuffed shirt is always a comic delight in a time when there are so few things for the bystander to laugh at.

The biggest mistake most men make in this world is that they wear dreams two sizes too large for them and shoes one size too small.

Rules To Keep Company Comin'

DEAR ABBY: I just read the one about her door with "rules" to keep visitors away.

Well, I'm a 38-year-old mother of six, and I'm amazed that anyone that nifty. We're newcomers who live in the country, and I'm stuck out here with six kids, two dogs and three cats. I'm so hungry for company, I'm ready to go out on the road and flag down some strangers.

Please print my "poster" in the paper for all to read:

You may smoke inside, outside, on the roof, or anywhere you wish, just don't burn the house down.

If you're hungry, help yourself to anything you can find. And if you can't find anything, ask one of the kids. They'll fix you a peanut butter and brown sugar sandwich.

If you're here around mealtime, grab a chair and join us.

If you want to stay overnight, bring a sleeping bag and we'll move some clutter from the corner to make room for you.

Bring your kids. We have so many, a few more won't make any difference.

We can't lend you any money, but go ahead and ask anyway. It will make us feel good to know we appear that prosperous.

Tell us your troubles and we'll tell you ours. One of our kids can play the violin for background music, and we can all cry together.

If you can stand us, we can stand you, so drop in anytime as long as you like. We're people who like people.

Smog Device Competition Set

ORANGE, Calif. (AP) — Air Quality Products Inc., a 15-man company, is challenging General Motors Corp., the world's largest manufacturing concern, in the multimillion dollar California used car smog device market.

The smaller company will give GM a 67 per cent price advantage but expects to capture as much as 20 per cent of the market, said Caleb "Bud" Swanson, Air Quality president.

The companies are the only two licensed by the state Air Resources Board to market emission control systems required by Sept. 1 in the South Coast air basin on most model years from 1955 through 1965.

The antismog devices will be required in the San Francisco Bay Area next Jan. 1 and in San Diego early in 1973.

The firms will battle over a market worth from $50 million to $200 million.

The devices must be installed when ownership changes.

The GM product will cost $20 installed and reduces hydrocarbons by 40 per cent, carbon monoxide by 20 per cent and nitrogen oxides by 35 per cent, according to GM tests.

The Air Quality product will cost $59 installed and will reduce hydrocarbon emission by an average of 65 per cent, carbon monoxide by 45 per cent and oxides of nitrogen by 50 per cent, according to the manufacturer.

Swanson contends the GM device may result in extensive valve damage to many cars, requiring repairs that could cost up to $150.

Medical College Uses Acupuncture

NEW YORK (AP) — Physicians at Albert Einstein College of Medicine used acupuncture needles to anesthetize a patient's legs for a skin graft last Friday, the college hospital reported Monday.

It was the first reported use of acupuncture on a patient in a U.S. hospital. Interest among American anesthetists in the ancient Chinese therapy had mounted since President Nixon's trip to China in February.

The 65-year-old patient, a Manhattan bank employee who was not identified, was said to be recovering comfortably after the relatively minor operation. A surgeon grafted skin from his right thigh to the bottom of his left foot.

Policeman Charged With Manslaughter

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — A policeman assigned to the Buffalo Parks Department is accused of fatally shooting a golfer in a dispute about a play permit, police said.

Police charged Special Officer Solomon Fletcher, 37, with manslaughter in the shooting Monday of John R. Mosely, 41, of Buffalo on the first tee.

like the kind of person I'd like to know. I'll bet you won't be hungry for company long.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for printing a letter in which it let me know that I am not alone in this world. A woman placed a poster on her front door to discourage unwanted company.

Some time ago I placed a sign on MY door which read, "DO NOT DISTURB. NIGHT WORKER!"

It didn't help. People still rang my bell, twisted the doorknob, beat on the door and yelled, "ANYBODY HOME?" Some even went around to look in the windows!

When I realized that I needed something stronger, I put up another sign.

"ADMISSION $1.00-NO ONE ADMITTED FREE"

That sign did the job. Nobody bothered me after that. Now I notice two other signs just like mine in the neighborhood.

DEAR WOLF: So far you've been lucky that some curious stranger hasn't demanded to know what you are foraging for a dollar.

DEAR ABBY: When I read the letter signed "ALL TORN UP" describing a husband who was Johnny-on-the-spot to do chores for the neighbors, while his own remained undone, I was reminded of how my mother solved the same problem.

My father was a wonderful mechanic who worked daily at his job from 8 till 5. We lived on a small ranch, during his "free" hours he was supposed to do all the things on must do on the ranch, such as milking, irrigation, fence-mending, barn repairs, etc.

Friends and neighbors would meed Dad at the gate as he came home, with "if you have a minute will you please check my brakes, the timing, or the radiator?" Dad, being a big-hearted man he was, never said no. His hot dinner was often eaten cold. Weekends he spent repairing a friend's car, truck or tractor while his own ranch work was left undone. Mother often made minor repairs or milked with the aid of a flashlight. (This after she done her own work during the day.)

Finally Mother had "notices" printed and passed them out to these unsolicited "customers." They read:

"MECHANIC ON DUTY MON. THRU FRI.

6 P.M. to 8 P.M. Charge $8 per hour.

SAT. AND SUN. 9 AM to 4 PM.

Charge $10, per hour. These charges are cover cost of the handyman I have had to hire to do Mr. —'s ranch chores."

You have no idea how fast these freeloaders learned to do their own repairing or found another patsy.

Thieu Flies Into Kontum Under Fire

KONTUM, Vietnam (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu flew into Kontum under fire Tuesday to pin a star on the field commander defending the provincial capital in the central highlands.

Thieu came in a light observation helicopter that flew in at rooftop level and put down at the 23rd Division headquarters a few hundred yards from North Vietnamese positions.

Several rounds of artillery landed in the compound just before the president arrived and during his 25 minute stay.

Thieu came to promote Col. Ly Tong Ba to brigadier general. He commands the 22nd Division, which has been fighting inside Kontum since the city's defenses were breached last Thursday.

It was understood that one reason for Thieu's visit was to encourage Ba to take more aggressive action to rout the enemy forces holding on in the northern and southeastern sectors of the city. One source said the promotion would also make clear Ba's authority over other colonels working with him.

Ba was surprised by Thieu's arrival and by his spot promotion. Aides had to hurry around to find him as the helicopter approached.

Ruth Steinhauser (former fourth grade Williamsport teacher), Big Mike McCafferty Sr., Uncle Darrell Wisecup, Archie Sweet, impish Jeff Long, Trisha Miller, Joey Valone, Rex Ingman, Michael Morrison, "Beef" Harris, Robert Cornwell, Lisa Carter, Grace Huffman, June 4; Frank Palmer, Terry Lynn Carter; June Boyer, Debbie Morris, Elyse Rhine-smith, J. R. Grabill, Shirley Fields, Susan Hillman, Ann Hamric, Dennis Finch, June 5; Sandy Pearl, Karen Beard, Mrs. Lucy Fausnaugh, June 6; Cindy Beatty, Philip Linville, Jim Sykes, Jerri Furniss, Max Justice, Juliana Cornell, Dwight Spangler, June 7; Doyen Bode, Nancy Keller, Norman O'Connor, Randy Smith, Karen Cochran, Theresa Tarbill, June 8.

My very first item on this week's agenda is to sing out the praises of our Pickaway County Library staff. They always come to the rescue when information is needed. Last week I drew a complete blank on a certain word and a call to them produced almost instant results. Many, many times they prove to be a valuable resource. How very fortunate we Pickaway Countians can consider ourselves for having such "jewels".

The eight commencement of Westfall graduates was held Sunday evening under a beautiful blue cloudless canopy with just a touch of golden sun and balmy, refreshing breezes that enhanced the lovely picture made by the seniors in their gray and scarlet gowns and mortarboards. Having the ceremony outdoors was an innovation last year and hopefully will continue. A large crowd, to the point of overflowing the seating facilities, attended the exercises. Phil Karn, Judy Schein and Claire Hansen, the top students of their class, addressed those assembled and using their class motto, "Learn from yesterday, live for today, dream for tomorrow," did a highly commendable job of imparting their thoughts, impressions and knowledge.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swanson of Erie, Pennsylvania drove over this week-end to be here for grandson John Valone's graduation. They planned to leave for home on Tuesday. Driving down from Toledo on Sunday (and back the same night) was young Bob Swanson, John's cousin and also houseguests in the Ray and Jean Valone home for the graduation week-end were Bob and Jean Valone of Warren, Pennsy (Ray's brother and sister-in-law). They returned to their home on Monday a.m.

Margie Rigby, a Westfall alumnus, was here from her Columbus abode to be with parents Lonzie and Kathleen and be a part of brother Ken's graduation.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin McDill, Debbie and Jeff of Plano, Texas came in Saturday to be guests of brother Don and his females, Rose Evelyn, Barbara Jo, Nancy, and Bev. They spent much time with father, Dudley McDill, who has been quite ill and is a patient at Monterey Nursing Home at Grove City. Last weekend Mr. and Mrs. Carl McDill of Kemah, Texas were here to be with Mr. McDill and after being in New Jersey for a week or so they will return to our village as guests of the Don McDills and to be again with Dad McDill. Cards of cheer would be nice for friends and well wishers to get in the mail for the former school crossing guard who was much loved by the students.

Saturday and Sunday found the Galloways, Charlie and Ethel and their cute images Dena and Brenda off for a spot of fishing at Delaware Dam State Park. Accompanying them were Ethel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gimore and her brother Bill of near Five Points and Miss Norma Anderson of our town. They not only caught their share of fish but Dena caught the chicken pox. That's one way of getting out of school early, huh? Her Jackson third grade classmates will miss her, and she will miss them.

Marabel Drummond, Connie, Princess Sandee and Joy packed up and hid themselves off to the bright lights of Adelphi for the holiday weekend. As guests of parents Doyen and Kathleen Bode they were in the mainstream of all the excitement of th first annual Adelphi Bologna Festival. Head of the household David joined his family for part of the fun and games. I wonder — did they come home full of "bloney"?

Norma (Mrs. John) Drummond has been a patient for the past week at Grant Hospital in Columbus.

Two busloads of Westfall Band members journeyed to Le Sourdsville Lake this past Saturday and delighted the onlookers there with a bit of marching ability and a concert. It couldn't have been a more perfect day and after the concert the students had a ball on the many rides and diversions offered at the amusement park. Those of us as chaperones, namely Ruth Schleich, Mrs. Hix, Mrs. Dountz, yours truly, bus drivers Helen Whitesed and Bob Miller had a real fun time, too. I sometimes wonder why we go as chaperones because the band members always conduct themselves in an exemplary manner. In these days of glaring headlines of murder, drugs, hi-jackings, etc., it is so rewarding to be a part of a wholesome, well behaved, genial energetic group of teenagers. Parents, teachers, every citizen of Westfall district can be quite proud of these "kids" representing us. Much credit to them and to our band director, Papa Jim Kibby.

Kay Whitesed of Cincinnati was expected home for the holiday and Helen was explaining that this year the Whitesed family (which includes Paul baby and Cora Beth) were going to vacation in Nova Scotia. Every summer they go to some exciting place. Surely won't be much longer until they have been in every state in the union.

As the school year draws to a close the many clubs usually have a party and the most recent one was the Latin Club party on Friday evening (May 26). Held at the home of club member Vincent Redman on Route 22 the forepart of the evening's entertainment was a cook-out and later games, dancing and record playing were thoroughly enjoyed in the "really cool" basement recreation room. Complete with psychedelic lighting, burning incense and all that "tuff stuff" that "turns on" the young set it afforded a real fun evening for Kay Hooks, Jim Akison, Becki (alias Birty) Easterday, George Hastings, Chris (Mama Domingo) Hansen, Harry (Papa Domingo) Linton, Joyce Stevens, Ann (Grandmother Domingo) Straley, Bunny Stevens, Janie Schein, Karen Marshall, Cindy Hamman and host Vincent and club adviser (and Latin teacher) David Bolman. Miss Wilma Elliott and Mrs. Agnes Redman were a part of the evening festivities, too.

It has been said, "The sincerest form of flattery is — imitation." Think About It.

Mrs. Charles (Ruth) Shipe of Macon, Georgia arrived Sunday for her annual summer visit with her mother (and our dear 98 year old neighbor) Mrs. Charles (Phoebe) Smiley. Also visiting Sunday were Ray and Vida Smiley of Dayton.

quite ill and confined to her bed. Cards and notes of good cheer from friends and neighbors would be indeed welcome.

Last Honor Guard Survivor Recalls 'Unknown' Dedication

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — For Calvin Bailey, 68, the last survivor of the U.S. Army honor guard at the dedication of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington Cemetery "it was nothing special" then, but it has come to mean a lot more to him over the years.

"I was just a boy then," Bailey recalled of the Armistice Day event in November, 1921, at Washington, D.C.

Bailey was a member of Company L, 12th Infantry, station at Ft. Meade, Md., serving as an honor guard as part of his regular duties.

"It meant nothing to me," he said of the event attended by dignitaries from around the world. He said it was "just part of a job. You're used to those things."

Having lost contact with his Army friends since leaving the service in 1924, Bailey went back to Arlington last November for the 50th anniversary of the dedication only to learn he was the lone survivor of the contingent.

"Yes," he said of the tomb,

"it is impressive. It's really something wonderful."

A native of Clark County, Ohio, Bailey moved to Covington, Ky., after leaving the service.

"As far as I know," he said Monday, "I'm the last survivor of the group. I haven't been able to locate any of the others."

Bailey said he received a special gold medalion commemorating the 50th anniversary from President Richard Nixon. The event touched him.

"I don't know," he said softly, "It just gave me a kind of a funny feeling. When you're young, you don't think much of it, but this time..."

Bailey viewed the sentries which stand guard at the Arlington monument and said "things have changed."

"The honor guards today are a lot sharper," he chuckled. "It's very military now, the way those boys do it. Yes sir, these boys of today are really on the ball."

Federal Judge Orders Clean Air Maintained

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge ruled Tuesday the government must protect existing clean air by requiring state antipollution plans to forbid its deterioration.

District Judge John H. Pratt, hearing a suit brought by the Sierra Club and other environmental groups, asked government and environmentalist lawyers to suggest an appropriate order which he could issue immediately to the administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency.

Pratt indicated he would allow the administrator to approve state antipollution plans or parts of plans designed to meet federal standards for protecting human health and the environment.

But he also said he will require the administrator to obtain additional state plans, where necessary, to protect air whose quality is now higher than the federal standards.

They spent much time with father, Dudley McDill, who has been quite ill and is a patient at Monterey Nursing Home at Grove City last weekend Mr. and Mrs. Carl McDill of Kemah, Texas were here to be with Mr. McDill and after being in New Jersey for a week or so they will return to our village as guests of the Don McDills and to be again with Dad McDill. Cards of cheer would be nice for friends and well wishers to get in the mail for the former school crossing guard who was much loved by the students.

Saturday and Sunday found the Galloways, Charlie and Ethel and their cute images Dena and Brenda off for a spot of fishing at Delaware Dam State Park. Accompanying them were Ethel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gimore and her brother Bill of near Five Points and Miss Norma Anderson of our town. They not only caught their share of fish but Dena caught the chicken pox. That's one way of getting out of school early, huh? Her Jackson third grade classmates will miss her, and she will miss them.

Marabel Drummond, Connie, Princess Sandee and Joy packed up and hid themselves off to the bright lights of Adelphi for the holiday weekend. As guests of parents Doyen and Kathleen Bode they were in the mainstream of all the excitement of the first annual Adelphi Bologna Festival. Head of the household David joined his family for part of the fun and games. I wonder — did they come home full of "bloney"?

Norma (Mrs. John) Drummond has been a patient for the past week at Grant Hospital in Columbus.

Two busloads of Westfall Band members journeyed to Le Sourdville Lake this past Saturday and delighted the onlookers there with a bit of marching ability and a concert. It couldn't have been a more perfect day and after the concert the students had a ball on the many rides and diversions offered at the amusement park. Those of us as chaperones, namely Ruth Schleich, Mrs. Hix, Mrs. Dountz, yours truly, bus drivers Helen Whitesed and Bob Miller had a real fun time, too. I sometimes wonder why we go as chaperones because the band members always conduct themselves in an exemplary manner. In these days of glaring headlines of murder, drugs, hi-jackings, etc., it is so rewarding to be a part of a wholesome, well behaved, genial energetic group of teenagers. Parents, teachers, every citizen of Westfall district can be quite proud of these "kids" representing us. Much credit to them and to our band director, Papa Jim Kibby.

It has been said, "The sincerest form of flattery is imitation." Think About It.

Mrs. Charles (Ruth) Shipe of Macon, Georgia arrived Sunday for her annual summer visit with her mother (and our dear 98 year old neighbor) Mrs. Charles (Phoebe) Smiley. Also visiting Sunday were Ray and Vida Smiley of Dayton.

quite ill and confined to her bed. Cards and notes of good cheer from friends and neighbors would be indeed welcome.

Last Honor Guard Survivor Recalls 'Unknown' Dedication

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — For Calvin Bailey, 68, the last survivor of the U.S. Army honor guard at the dedication of the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington Cemetery "it was nothing special" then, but it has come to mean a lot more to him over the years.

"I was just a boy then," Bailey recalled of the Armistice Day event in November, 1921, at Washington, D.C.

Bailey was a member of Company L, 12th Infantry, station at Ft. Meade, Md., serving as an honor guard as part of his regular duties.

"It meant nothing to me," he said of the event attended by dignitaries from around the world. He said it was "just part of a job. You're used to those things."

Having lost contact with his Army friends since leaving the service in 1924, Bailey went back to Arlington last November for the 50th anniversary of the dedication only to learn he was the lone survivor of the contingent.

"Yes," he said of the tomb,

"it is impressive. It's really something wonderful."

A native of Clark County, Ohio, Bailey moved to Covington, Ky., after leaving the service.

"As far as I know," he said Monday, "I'm the last survivor of the group. I haven't been able to locate any of the others."

Bailey said he received a special gold medalion commemorating the 50th anniversary from President Richard Nixon. The event touched him.

"I don't know," he said softly, "It just gave me a kind of a funny feeling. When you're young, you don't think much of it, but this time..."

Bailey viewed the sentries which stand guard at the Arlington monument and said "things have changed."

"The honor guards today are a lot sharper," he chuckled. "It's very military now, the way those boys do it. Yes sir, these boys of today are really on the ball."

Federal Judge Orders Clean Air Maintained

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge ruled Tuesday the government must protect existing clean air by requiring state antipollution plans to forbid its deterioration.

District Judge John H. Pratt, hearing a suit brought by the Sierra Club and other environmental groups, asked government and environmentalist lawyers to suggest an appropriate order which he could issue immediately to the administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency.

Pratt indicated he would allow the administrator to approve state antipollution plans or parts of plans designed to meet federal standards for protecting human health and the environment.

But he also said he will require the administrator to obtain additional state plans, where necessary, to protect air whose quality is now higher than the federal standards.

Trio Of Spring Desserts With Succulent Pineapple

By ALICE DENHOFF

THE PINEAPPLE — what a joy, and how versatile it is, too. This luscious fruit of the tropics is available fresh much of the year and of course canned pineapple is available all the time. It is most abundant and least expensive in late spring and early summer, so now's the time to celebrate with pineapple desserts.

Here, then, is a terrific trio and it is interesting to note that the recipes make good use of various corn products — corn syrup, light and dark, and corn starch.

Well, anyway, be that as it may, how about fixing a pretty:

PINEAPPLE PIE

3/4 tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup lemon juice
1 (1 pound, 13 1/2 ounces) can crushed pineapple
1 recipe double crust pastry for a 9-inch pie
Milk
Sugar

Mix together corn starch and next 3 ingredients in a 2-quart saucepan. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens, comes to a boil and boils 2 minutes. Cool to room temperature. Turn pineapple mixture into pastry-lined pie pan. Cut several slits on top crust to permit escape of steam.

Cover pie with top crust. Seal and flute edge. Brush with milk and sprinkle with sugar. Bake at 425 degrees F. 30 to 35 minutes or until crust is golden brown.

If using fresh pineapple, follow recipe, but using 1 medium pineapple, pared and diced (about 3 1/2 cups) in lieu of canned variety and adding 1/2 cup sugar and 2-3 cups water to the mixture in the saucepan.

Next: PINEAPPLE IN GINGERED SOUR CREAM

1 fresh pineapple cut in chunks or a 1 pound, 13 ounce can pineapple chunks
1/2 pint dairy sour cream
1/4 cup light or dark corn syrup
1 tablespoon crystallized chopped ginger.

Chill pineapple chunks. Mix together remaining ingredients. Pour over pineapple in serving dishes. Garnish with mint sprigs, if desired. Serves 6.

PINEAPPLE DESSERT DUMPLINGS

3 tablespoons granulated or firmly packed brown sugar
3 cups diced fresh pineapple
3/4 cup water
1/2 cup light corn syrup
2 tablespoons corn starch
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons margarine
1/8 teaspoon salt

Dessert Dumplings (recipe follows)
Sprinkle sugar over pineapple; let stand 5 minutes. Bring water to boil in saucepan; add pineapple. Cover and simmer 5 minutes. Drain; add water to liquid, if necessary, to make 1 cup. With a spoon blend corn syrup and corn starch in saucepan. Stir in pineapple liquid. Stirring constantly, bring to boil over medium heat and boil 3 minutes. Add lemon juice, margarine, pineapple and salt. Turn into greased 8-inch square baking dish. Drop dumpling mixture by tablespoonsful onto fruit. Bake in 400 degree F. oven 20 minutes. Serve with whipped cream, dairy sour cream or whipped cream cheese for a calorie binge. Serves 4 to 6.

DESSERT DUMPLINGS

1 cup sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 cup corn oil
1/4 cup milk
1 egg

Sift together into a mixing bowl, first 5 ingredients. With a spoon, blend corn oil, milk and egg. Stir into dry ingredients, mixing just until flour mixture is moistened. Add to fruit and bake as directed above.

Taste Treats Of Bahamas Include Fruit And Turtle

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer

Anyone visiting the Bahamas off the south Atlantic coast of America as I did last year soon realizes food and drink play a big role in luring visitors to these idyllic spots.

Just as fish chowder and rum swizzles play a key role in the holiday fare of Bermuda, so do fruit and green turtle meat have a big part in the gustatory delights of these islands.

In the capital city of Nassau, as well as on Paradise Island just across the harbor, vacationers can enjoy pineapple munched popsicle style, sapodilla and Bahamas papaya.

One unusual taste treat at leading hotels and other dining spots around Nassau and Paradise Island is green turtle pie made of turtle meat ground, then fried and cooked with potatoes, onions and carrots and finally placed in a turtle shell, topped with pastry crust and baked.

Other popular foods on the islands are okra soup, Bahama bread pudding and a wide variety of fish.

Visitors to Nassau and Paradise Island located 183 miles from Miami should try the delectable marine mollusk known as the conch. This gift from Bahama waters is a highly-valued food in island circles and is served in various forms including conch fritters, conch chowder, curried conch and conch salad. Among the main dish favorites of Bahamians is a beef and pork concoction with peppers, onions and pineapples known as Goombay which also is the name for the native music that resembles calypso. Here's the recipe.

BEEF AND PORK GOOMBAY

2 lbs beef tenderloin sliced
1 1/2 lbs pork tenderloin sliced
3 whole sweet peppers diced
3 whole onions diced
1 tbsp brown sugar
8 peppercorns crushed
1 1/2 tsp. corn starch
4 pineapple slices diced
1 oz Cointreau
1 oz. maple syrup
4 cups consommé
salt and pepper to taste

Saute pork and beef in hot fat 15 minutes and drain. Saute peppers and onions. Add three cups consommé, and peppercorns with sugar, dash of vinegar, Cointreau and maple syrup. Use remaining cup consommé mixed with corn starch and add to thicken. Simmer 5 to 10 minutes, add pineapple. Serve on plain rice. Serves six. Good with a red Burgundy.

3 whole sweet peppers diced

1½ tsp. corn starch
4 pineapple slices diced
1 oz Cointreau

3 Officers Are Wounded In Shoot-Out

PEEBLES, Ohio (AP) — Three law enforcement officers were wounded in a two-hour shoot-out in this Adams County community with a man who ended the exchange of gunfire by taking his own life.

Authorities said Leon Duncan of Peebles shot himself fatally in the chest Tuesday night after firing on passing cars and then on law officers with a 12-gauge shotgun. He had been firing at the officers from inside his house, through the front door.

During the exchange of shots, Peebles Police Chief Hendrix Foreman Jr. was wounded in the right hand and right leg. He was reported in fair condition today in Adams County Hospital.

County Sheriff Eugene Hodge and his chief deputy, Harold Wilson, were also wounded, but they did not require hospitalization.

The three were the first law officers to arrive at the Duncan house after an unidentified woman telephoned the sheriff's office to report that Duncan was firing at passing cars. About the same time, Duncan's wife and children arrived at the police station saying he had threatened them with the gun and forced them out of the house.

The three tried to force Duncan from the house with tear gas, later calling for reinforcements from the police and sheriff's forces.

Officers said Duncan was alone in the house. The case remained under investigation.

Superpower Allies Nervous Over Summitry

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AP Special Correspondent

The superpower summitry has demonstrated how much the national interests of the two giants can mesh despite all the hostility. Now it's time for the allies of both to assess what happened and even worry about it.

Moscow may have some new difficulty with its Asian friends, and the Americans may run into some misgivings in Western Europe.

North Vietnam has made its anger plain, having noted the lack of Soviet enthusiasm for breaking through the U.S. mining of North Vietnamese ports. The Communist rulers of North Korea seem annoyed and fidgety, as if U.S.-Soviet detente might damage their chances for unification with South Korea on their own terms.

The North Vietnamese seem to suspect the Soviet leaders of pursuing purely national interests at the expense of Hanoi's long and costly war effort and even of threatening to force them to review their options.

As for North Korea, while President Nixon and Leonid Brezhnev were meeting in Moscow, the official North Korean press was ostentatiously extolling the thoughts of "the great leader of the Chinese people Mao Tse-tung," whose thoughts at present are anathema to the Kremlin. Are the North Koreans getting some sort of message across?

If the Soviet Union's allies feel a bit uneasy about the summit, despite assurances that no third nation's interests would be sacrificed, how about the European allies of the United States?

The Russians campaigned long and ardently for U.S. acceptance of the idea of a European security conference that would lead to renunciation of force and recognition of all existing frontiers. President Nixon now agrees with Brezhnev that there should be such a conference.

West German Chancellor Willy Brandt, leader of the drive for normal relations with the Soviet bloc, has expressed fervent hope that any Soviet-American agreement on reduction of troops in Europe will not bring "any military disadvantage to either side." Does this hint a worry that the Americans might reduce their forces too much and make the influence of the neighboring Soviet colossus overwhelming?

What sort of impact might the summit agreements have on the expanded European Economic Community? Possibly the 10 nations may feel an urge for more political collaboration, at least to the extent of coordinating their views in advance of the European security conference, so they might deal more effectively with the two giants.

The summit has shown both camps that the political temperature of the world can be changed radically when, and probably only if, the two superpowers want it to change and expect to profit thereby.

When the Americans and Russians worried about unrestricted nuclear testing, they could agree to limit it. When they worried about proliferation of nuclear weapons, they could forge an accord. They now have been able to move forward on the question of limiting strategic weapons. They can plan collaboration in space, in the fields of health and rescue of the environment. They can agree to take special pains to avoid dangerous confrontations. These agreements came because both eagerly wanted them.

No informed persons in East or West will now run out and strike up the band in celebration of the cold war's end. It takes only casual reading of the Soviet press to dispel the notion that peace has broken out suddenly. The word still is that there can be "no ideological conciliation," and there remains a large measure of mutual suspicion between the two camps.

That will not necessarily ease the worries of the junior partners. The cold war rhetoric in all probability will be muted, with salubrious results for the world's nerves, but there is likely to be some restiveness among the allies on both sides as they fret about what superpower collaboration can mean to them individually and collectively.

Supreme Court Rejects California Death Penalty Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Tuesday rejected an appeal by California to review a state supreme court decision outlawing the death penalty.

The high court currently is considering whether to abolish capital punishment across the land as being in violation of the federal Constitution. The Justices gave no reason for declining unanimously to add California's appeal to its docket.

Still before the court for an expected ruling next month are other appeals testing the constitutionality of the death penalty.

The California court held 6-1 Feb. 18 that the death penalty "may no longer be exacted" in that state because it violates the state Constitution. The action spared the lives of the 102 men and 5 women who make up the nation's largest death row population. They include Sirhan Sirhan, the assassin of former U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, and mass murderer Charles Manson.

California's petition for review, filed March 31 by Evelle J. Younger, the state attorney general, called the decision "an unseemly rush to judgment" while the death penalty issue was pending before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Younger contended that the "state ground" asserted by the California court, a provision in the California Constitution, was "palpably transparent" and that the ruling consequently should be reviewed by the U.S. court.

The California Constitution prohibits "cruel or unusual punishment" while the federal Constitution prohibits "cruel and unusual punishments." Since the California court found the death penalty both cruel and unusual, Younger argued, it was really interpreting the Eighth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Proponents of capital punishment, including Gov. Ronald Reagan, followed up the decision by backing an amendment to the state Constitution specifically authorizing the death penalty. The move failed in the California Senate in early May. However, there is a drive to re-instate the death penalty in California through an initiative measure.

The California case directly involved Robert P. Anderson, 34, who was under death sentence for the 1965 murder of a San Diego shopkeeper.

Ohioan Finds Cow Manure More Profitable Than Milk

GOSHEN, Ohio (AP) — A Clermont County dairy farmer took a suggestion from a friend in Michigan for marketing cow manure and is now getting four times the price for it that he gets from the milk.

"... And I'm hard pressed to keep up with the demand," said Neil Bruynis, who has 100 Holstein cows on his 500-acre farm.

Bruynis, an immigrant from Holland 17 years ago, has seven employees to process his "Nature's Own Deodorized Liquid Cow Manure."

He said he gets about 60 cents a gallon for the milk, and $2.40 for a gallon of the organic manure.

He uses a 56,000 gallon holding tank to store the manure from stalls and later mixes it with deodorant.

"All the gardener has to do is pour," said Bruynis. He markets the product in area garden stores and nurseries. Bruynis said he can produce 1,000 gallons of fertilizer per day using two old, converted milk mixers.

"It fits in perfectly with modern merchandising of fertilizer materials," said Clermont County Agent Woody Hamilton.

Hamilton said the process not only provides new sources of income for farmers, but it solves an increasingly-serious problem of disposing of animal wastes without causing pollution to lands or streams.

"Bruynis is an ambitious, hard-working farmer, who is shrewd enough to pick up a good idea and go ahead with it, merchandising a product that is a problem on the farm," said Hamilton.

Hail Storm Hits Brown County Crop

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP) — A hail storm in Brown County Monday may have destroyed about five per cent of the area's tobacco crop, but it could have been worse except for late planting, according to Brown County Agent Earl Baylor.

Late spring rains forced farmers to plant late, Baylor said, and most seedlings were still under cloth covers.

But a 3.25-inch rainfall may have caused other problems, Baylor said, by washing out seedlings of other crops like wheat and corn.

The British government employs more than 700,000 civil servants.

Pickaway Residents Attend Conference On Aging

Pickaway County was well represented at the Governor's Conference on Aging held at Veterans Memorial Building, Columbus, Friday and Saturday.

The citizen's representatives of the Pickaway County Senior Citizens Center were: John Miranda, Florence Jones, Pauline Jones, Alice Scothorn, Sabel Badger, Catherine Hawks, Bessie Good and Mr.

and Mrs. Gordon Denike and Vera Saunders.

Other Pickaway Countians attending were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fissell, Mr. and Mrs. William Beard, Mrs. Kelson Arledge and Mrs. Ray Atcheson and Penny Nielson.

The theme of the conference was "One Million Strong." Gov. John Gilligan encouraged the 4000 attending the conference to write their congressmen on current issues and bills for the aging.

Lionel Z. Cosin M.D. clinical director Geriatric Unit United Oxford Hospital, Oxford, England, spoke on the prevention of illness in the "geriatric set." He noted the aging needed transportation, occupational therapy and physical therapy.

Arthur S. Fleming, chairman of the recent White House Conference on Aging and Special Consultant on aging to the President, reported the aging needed to strengthen their spiritual foundation.

19 Ohio Penitentiary Inmates Move To Chillicothe Institute

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State corrections officials have moved to ease tensions at the Ohio Penitentiary as plans progress for the transfer of inmates to the new Lucasville prison.

Nineteen inmates were moved Tuesday from the maximum security "L" cellblock, where prisoners have been complaining about allegedly inhumane conditions, to the Chillicothe Correctional Institute.

And 46 guards who have been in an orientation program at the new Southern Ohio Correctional Facility at Lucasville were returned to the penitentiary here.

Bernard Barton, operations officer in the state Corrections Division, said the guards were returned for two reasons — to help move the prisoners south and to relieve penitentiary officers who have been working 12-hour shifts since March.

Barton said the additional guards should provide a "big boost to the morale of the officers and the inmates as well."

Without saying the return of the guards was related to increased incidents of violence at the 134-year-old penitentiary, Barton acknowledged that "tension builds as the staff begins to tire."

He described the inmate population as becoming "restless" over the impending transfers to Lucasville.

The 19 penitentiary inmates moved Tuesday are being housed temporarily in a newly renovated cellblock at the Chillicothe institution. They will be moved to the Lucasville prison later.

"This transfer will eliminate the use of the antiquated area known as cellblock 'L' and will provide more humane quarters for inmates," penitentiary warden Harold Cardwell said.

Brazilian Skyjacker Kills Self

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Brazilian authorities turned over $250,000 and three parachutes demanded by a hijacker, got the other 85 passengers and crew members off the Brazilian airliner and then recaptured the plane Tuesday night.

As troops flooded the four-engine turbo-prop Electra with tear gas, the hijacker killed himself with a bullet through his head. He was a stocky, dark-complexioned man who spoke with the accent of north-east Brazil.

Nobody else was hurt, and the money was recovered. Armed with a small pistol, the hijacker had commanded the Varig Airlines plane on a flight from Sao Paulo to Curitiba, 250 miles to the south. The gunman forced the pilot to fly back to Sao Paulo where he made his demands known.

He wanted 1.5 million cruzeiros and three parachutes. He also demanded that the plane be refueled and allowed to take off again for an undisclosed destination. In exchange he promised to free the passengers and all but three of the crew.

Pilot Celso Caldera, carrying out the hijacker's orders, told the control tower that three men had taken over the plane. But he said he was able to communicate the true situation through a predetermined code.

Partial Vote Recount Set In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — A partial vote recount is tentatively set for Monday of the Republican race for state representative between incumbent Rep. John Bechtold and Helen Fix. The initial tally showed Bechtold won by 80 votes.

Mrs. Fix, a councilwoman in suburban Amberly Village, officially asked the Hamilton County Board of Elections Tuesday to recount votes in 60 of the district's 155 polling places.

The board certified last Friday that Bechtold, of Cincinnati, won by 5,893 votes to 5,813 in the district in suburban, Northeastern Hamilton County.

The recount will cost $10 per polling place but can be halted at any time.

19 Ohio Penitentiary Inmates Move To Chillicothe Institute

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State corrections officials have moved to ease tensions at the Ohio Penitentiary as plans progress for the transfer of inmates to the new Lucasville prison.

Nineteen inmates were moved Tuesday from the maximum security "L" cellblock, where prisoners have been complaining about allegedly inhumane conditions, to the Chillicothe Correctional Institute.

And 46 guards who have been in an orientation program at the new Southern Ohio Correctional Facility at Lucasville were returned to the penitentiary here.

Bernard Barton, operations officer in the state Corrections Division, said the guards were returned for two reasons — to help move the prisoners south and to relieve penitentiary officers who have been working 12-hour shifts since March.

Barton said the additional guards should provide a "big boost to the morale of the officers and the inmates as well."

Without saying the return of the guards was related to increased incidents of violence at the 134-year-old penitentiary, Barton acknowledged that "tension builds as the staff begins to tire."

He described the inmate population as becoming "restless" over the impending transfers to Lucasville.

The 19 penitentiary inmates moved Tuesday are being housed temporarily in a newly renovated cellblock at the Chillicothe institution. They will be moved to the Lucasville prison later.

"This transfer will eliminate the use of the antiquated area known as cellblock 'L' and will provide more humane quarters for inmates," penitentiary warden Harold Cardwell said.

The Red Rose Executive Sales Council was established in order to recognize and salute outstanding achievement by the members of the Red Rose field staff. Brazilian Skyjacker Kills Self

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP) — Brazilian authorities turned over $250,000 and three parachutes demanded by a hijacker, got the other 85 passengers and crew members off the Brazilian airliner and then recaptured the plane Tuesday night.

As troops flooded the four-engine turbo-prop Electra with tear gas, the hijacker killed himself with a bullet through his head. He was a stocky, dark-complexioned man who spoke with the accent of northeast Brazil.

Nobody else was hurt, and the money was recovered. Armed with a small pistol, the hijacker had commandeered the Varig Airlines plane on a flight from Sao Paulo to Curitiba, 250 miles to the south. The gunman forced the pilot to fly back to Sao Paulo where he made his demands known.

He wanted 1.5 million cruzeiros and three parachutes. He also demanded that the plane be refueled and allowed to take off again for an undisclosed destination. In exchange he promised to free the passengers and all but three of the crew.

Pilot Celso Caldera, carrying out the hijacker's orders, told the control tower that three men had taken over the plane. But he said he was able to communicate the true situation through a predetermined code.

Partial Vote Recount Set In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — A partial vote recount is tentatively set for Monday of the Republican race for state representative between incumbent Rep. John Bechtold and Helen Fix. The initial tally showed Bechtold won by 80 votes.

Mrs. Fix, a councilwoman in suburban Amberly Village, officially asked the Hamilton County Board of Elections Tuesday to recount votes in 60 of the district's 155 polling places.

The board certified last Friday that Bechtold, of Cincinnati, won by 5,893 votes to 5,813 in the district in suburban, Northeastern Hamilton County. The recount will cost $10 per polling place but can be halted at any time.

Procter & Gamble Chief Feels Better

CINCINNATI (AP) — Neil McElroy, Procter & Gamble Co. board chairman since 1959, is reported feeling "much better" following treatment at Holmes Hospital here for more than a month.

A family spokesman said Tuesday that McElroy was discharged from the hospital Saturday after treatment of an undisclosed illness. He has been resting at home since Saturday.

McElroy served as U.S. Secretary of Defense from 1957 through 1959.

There are more than 11,000 lakes in Minnesota.

Environment Bill Called 'Mirage'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A House subcommittee was told Tuesday a bill it is hearing to create a state Environmental Protection Agency is "little more than a legislative mirage, with antipollution provisions that evaporate upon careful consideration."

Jerold Jacover, an attorney for the Ohio Public Interest Action Group, said the measure "protects polluters more than the environment."

Testifying before an Environment and Natural Resources subcommittee, Jacover said the legislation should be completely revised.

Lions, camels, elephants, and 12-foot high mammoths roamed Alaska 12,000 years ago, National Geographic says.

Supreme Court Boggled Down?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court will have to step on the gas—hard—if it intends to finish work and get out of town by July.

The justices handed down opinions in only five argued cases Tuesday. None was of overriding importance. Included among them was a ruling on patents for machines that remove veins from shrimp.

A total of 66 argued cases remain. Among them: the legality of the death penalty, baseball's exemption from antitrust laws, and the wiretapping of domestic "subversives" by federal agents without warrants.

The court plans to meet to announce decisions once a week in June. This means it will have to accelerate to a rate of about 16 decisions a session to clear its docket.

In the last 70 years, the court has never extended a term into July. The justices held a special session in July 1942, however, to rule against a group of German submariners who had been intercepted by FBI agents, and in July 1957 to rule against a soldier, William S. Girard, who wanted to be tried in an American court in the slaying of a Japanese woman.

In September 1958, the justices interrupted their customary June-to-October vacation to order immediate desegregation of public schools in Little Rock, Ark.

Only tradition would prevent the justices from extending the current term into July, a variation court sources say is not planned now.

This year's pileup of cases is the probable reflection of deep divisions within the court as it shifts away from the liberalism of the years when Earl Warren was chief justice to a more restrained philosophy under Warren Burger.

Only one of the last 17 opinions was unanimous. Even the ruling on shrimp-machine patents split the court, 5 to 4.

Tuesday's most important decision allows the states to cut welfare payments to needy children by a larger percentage than aid to the blind, the aged and the disabled. Twenty-six states already do.

The court is not compelled to rule on all 66 remaining cases. Some could be held back for reargument next term; others could be swept aside on secondary points.

The most critical, in human terms, challenge the death penalty as being in violation of the 8th Amendment's prohibition on "cruel and unusual punishments."

On Tuesday, the justices unanimously declined to hear an appeal by California to restore capital punishment in that state. It was struck as in violation of a similar provision of the state constitution by the California Supreme Court last February.

Angela Davis Arguments Set Today

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Testimony has ended in the Angela Davis trial with refusal by the final witness—the father of George and Jonathan Jackson—to take the stand. Final arguments were to begin today.

The refusal of Lester Jackson to be a prosecution rebuttal witness almost overshadowed the end of testimony Tuesday as both sides rested after 13 weeks of the trial.

Jackson, a Pasadena, Calif., postal employee, noted that both his sons are dead and told the court that he would not answer any questions "for the preservation of my mental health."

Superior Court Judge Richard E. Arnason then found him in contempt and fined him $100. He could have been sent to jail for five days—or until the end of the trial—unless he agreed to testify.

The Jackson brothers were key figures in the prosecution's murder-kidnap-conspiracy case against Miss Davis, a black militant and avowed Communist.

She is accused of plotting a courthouse escape attempt with Jonathan and furnishing him four guns in hopes of acquiring hostages and exchanging them for convict-author George—whom the state says she loved passionately.

July Draft Call 7,200

WASHINGTON (AP) — Prime group draft candidates with lottery numbers 1 through 50 will be inducted during July. Selective Service announced Tuesday. A total of 7,200 will be called up.

This raised the callup lottery ceiling from Nos. 1 through 25 set for the 9,000 men callup for June.

The July call will bring the total called so far in 1972 to 22,200. The Defense Department has announced that 50,000 men will be drafted this year, roughly half the 98,000 drafted last year.

Acting Draft Director Byron Peptone's instructions to state headquarters and local boards affects primarily men who are in the first priority selection group born in 1952 who are classified 1A, 1AO and 1O.

A 1A is a man available for military service. A 1AO is a conscientious objector willing to go into the military for non-combat duty. A 1O is a conscientious objector who must serve compensating duty in a civilian role.

Ohio Fire Marshal's Office Criticized By Prosecutor

12 The Circleville Herald, Wed. May 31, 1972

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Warren County Prosecutor James Ruppert has criticized the Ohio Fire Marshal's office and dropped efforts to bring to trial a former city fireman charged with arson.

"I have never before been confronted with the unique impression that an investigative arm of the state is working in a manner detrimental to prosecution," Ruppert said Tuesday.

Ruppert commented as he filed a motion to halt prosecution of Ralph Rowe, 47, the last of five former uniformed employees charged as the result of a year-long probe of arson cases. Rowe had been scheduled to go on trial today on three counts of burning uninhabited dwellings.

The motion to halt prosecution was granted in Warren County Common Pleas Court.

Ruppert said the fire marshall's office conducted an investigation of the arson cases, but has failed to provide him with a copy of its report.

"I have been totally disgusted with the handling of this matter by the state fire marshal's office," Ruppert said. "By their action, they have made it impossible to proceed with the prosecution. The state conducted an investigation without notice or cooperation with my office."

Ruppert said that the prosecution had already delayed opening of the trial against Rowe because of the probe and lack of the fire marshal's office report.

Ruppert said that the fire marshal's office gave the defendant a lie detector test without the knowledge of his (Ruppert's) office. He said the fire marshal's office then advised counsel for Rowe that in their opinion he had no connection with the fires.

"Such an opinion, however erroneous it may be, is highly prejudicial to the state's case," the prosecutor continued.

Besides Rowe, two firemen and two policemen were suspended from duty here in December, 1970, following a local investigation into about 25 fires suspected of being arson.

Three of the five were placed on probation, after entering guilty pleas to lesser charges. One of the five was not indicted.

Sheriff's Department Gets Cruiser Back

PORT WASHINGTON, Wis. (AP) — Sheriff Arthur Helm's department recovered its sparkling clean squad car Monday after it had gone a way toward helping a youth with a problem of boredom.

Helm said the 18-year-old ward of Ozaukee County's welfare department had received permission Sunday to wash patrol cars in the county garage as a means of keeping busy.

The car and the youth soon disappeared. The car was found abandoned and undamaged Monday. The boy was still missing.

From 40 to 50 gallons of tree sap are boiled down to get one gallon of maple syrup.

Views On TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Op-lyland, U.S.A.," an NBC special Tuesday night, was not quite as country style as the title of the musical hour suggested—almost, but not quite. Actually, it is the name of a new amusement complex near Nashville, Tenn.

The center now joins the Disneyland, Cypress Gardens and Marineland which have landed television shows on the premises and thus entered the consciousness of vacation-minded Americans.

The "c'mon down" message was not shouted, however. The backgrounds were permitted to speak for themselves—the replica of the Mississippi riverboat, the old Southern plantation house, the village-type bandstand. In front of them was an assortment of musical performers—Johnny Cash, Tennessee Ernie Ford, the Carter Family, Roy Acuff and some rousing singing groups.

Lest some viewers found it all too rural, they balanced off the comedy style of Minnie Pearl with the more urbane comedy of Danny Thomas (who has suddenly sprouted silvery sideburns) and imported Leslie Uggams and Carol Lawrence to add more city-slicker notes.

It was a pleasant tuneless hour, all very low key. But amusement parks are awkward places for musical shows and comedy—as Miss Pearl must have found out when about all she was given to do was make funny faces.

Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and George McGovern fought round two of their three confrontations on national television as they appeared on an hour-long special edition of NBC's "Meet the Press."

From the viewer's standpoint, the program worked much better than their first tangle Sunday night on CBS. The two candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination answered questions from a panel of newsmen and refrained from answering each other. Some of the questions were as revealing as the answers.

By the end of the program, the uncommitted neutral viewer had a much clearer idea of what each man stands for in the critical areas of national defense, taxation, welfare reform and busing.

Lucille Ball, whose leg has been in a cast since early January when she suffered a leg fracture in a skiing accident at Snowmass, Colo., finally shed the plaster sheath Tuesday and started a therapy program to strengthen leg muscles.

Production of next season's "Here's Lucy" shows has already started with Lucy's fractured leg written into the scripts.

Pig War Brings Softball Contest

FRIDAY HARBOR, Wash. (AP) — Who would have guessed that the shooting of a porker in 1859 would have resulted in an international softball game in 1972?

Certainly not the American soldier who picked off a pig belonging to a Hudson's Bay Co. agent, and thus precipitated the Pig War, a 13-year confrontation between Great Britain and the United States over possession of the San Juan Islands in the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

Over the weekend, the Canadian vessel HMCS Porte de Eaw Reine, visited this San Juan Island community to celebrate the centennial of the end of the Pig War. Its crew engaged residents in a softball game, and the islanders enjoyed a barbecue on the ship.

State Police Set Graduation Of Women

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — The Pennsylvania State Police Academy will end 87 years as an all-male institution in July when 14 women join the class of 135 cadets graduating from the school after six months training.

"They lugged and fired service revolvers, threw each other around in self-defense class and took criminal law courses like the rest of us," a male cadet said.

Ohio Fire Marshal's Office Criticized By Prosecutor

LERANON, Ohio (AP) — Warren County Prosecutor James Ruppert has criticized the Ohio Fire Marshal's office and dropped efforts to bring to trial a former city fireman charged with arson.

"I have never before been confronted with the unique impression that an investigative arm of the state is working in a manner detrimental to prosecution," Ruppert said Tuesday.

Ruppert commented as he filed a motion to halt prosecution of Ralph Rowe, 47, the last of five former uniformed employees charged as the result of a year-long probe of arson cases. Rowe had been scheduled to go on trial today on three counts of burning uninhabited dwellings.

The motion to halt prosecution was granted in Warren County Common Pleas Court.

Ruppert said the fire marshall's office conducted an investigation of the arson cases, but has failed to provide him with a copy of its report.

"I have been totally disgusted with the handling of this matter by the state fire marshal's office," Ruppert said. "By their action, they have made it impossible to proceed with the prosecution. The state conducted an investigation without notice or cooperation with my office."

Ruppert said that the prosecution had already delayed opening of the trial against Rowe because of the probe and lack of the fire marshal's office report.

Ruppert said that the fire marshal's office gave the defendant a lie detector test without the knowledge of his (Ruppert's) office. He said the fire marshal's office then advised counsel for Rowe that in their opinion he had no connection with the fires.

"Such an opinion, however erroneous it may be, is highly prejudicial to the state's case," the prosecutor continued.

Besides Rowe, two firemen and two policemen were suspended from duty here in December, 1970, following a local investigation into about 25 fires suspected of being arson.

Three of the five were placed on probation, after entering guilty pleas to lesser charges. One of the five was not indicted.

Sheriff's Department Gets Cruiser Back

PORT WASHINGTON, Wis. (AP) — Sheriff Arthur Helm's department recovered its sparkling clean squad car Monday after it had gone a way toward helping a youth with a problem of boredom.

Helm said the 15-year-old ward of Ozaukee County's welfare department had received permission Sunday to wash parol cars in the county garage as a means of keeping busy.

The car and the youth soon disappeared. The car was found abandoned and undamaged Monday. The boy was still missing.

Views On TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Opportunity, U.S.A.," an NBC special Tuesday night, was not quite as country-style as the title of the musical hour suggested—almost, but not quite. Actually, it is the name of a new amusement complex near Nashville, Tenn.

The center now joins the Disneyland, Cypress Gardens and Marineland which have landed television shows on the premises and thus entered the consciousness of vacation-minded Americans.

The "c'mon down" message was not shouted, however. The backgrounds were permitted to speak for themselves—the replica of the Mississippi riverboat, the old Southern plantation house, the village-type bandstand. In front of them was an assortment of musical performers—Johnny Cash, Tennessee Ernie Ford, the Carter Family, Roy Acuff and some rousing singing groups.

Lest some viewers found it all too rural, they balanced off the comedy style of Minnie Pearl with the more urbane comedy of Danny Thomas (who has suddenly sprouted silvery sideburns) and imported Leslie Uggams and Carol Lawrence to add more city-slicker notes.

It was a pleasant tuneless hour, all very low key. But amusement parks are awkward places for musical shows and comedy—as Miss Pearl must have found out when about all she was given to do was make funny faces.

Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey and George McGovern fought round two of their three confrontations on national television as they appeared on an hour-long special edition of NBC's "Meet the Press."

From the viewer's standpoint, the program worked much better than their first tangle Sunday night on CBS. The two candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination answered questions from a panel of newsmen and refrained from answering each other. Some of the questions were as revealing as the answers.

By the end of the program, the uncommitted neutral viewer had a much clearer idea of what each man stands for in the critical areas of national defense, taxation, welfare reform and busing.

Lucille Ball, whose leg has been in a cast since early January when she suffered a leg fracture in a skiing accident at Snowmass, Colo., finally shed the plaster sheath Tuesday and started a therapy program to strengthen leg muscles.

Production of next season's "Here's Lucy" shows has already started with Lucy's fractured leg written into the scripts.

Pig War Brings Softball Contest

FRIDAY HARBOR, Wash. (AP) — Who would have guessed that the shooting of a porker in 1859 would have resulted in an international softball game in 1972?

Certainly not the American soldier who picked off a pig belonging to a Hudson's Bay Co. agent, and thus precipitated the Pig War, a 13-year confrontation between Great Britain and the United States over possession of the San Juan Islands in the Strait of Juan de Fuca.

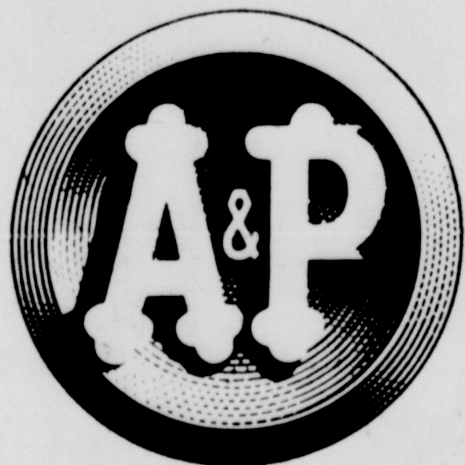

Over the weekend, the Canadian vessel HMCS Porte de Eaw Reine, visited this San Juan Island community to celebrate the centennial of the end of the Pig War. Its crew engaged residents in a softball game, and the islanders enjoyed a barbecue on the ship.

State Police Set Graduation Of Women

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — The Pennsylvania State Police Academy will end 67 years as an all-male institution in July when 14 women join the class of 125 cadets graduating from the school after six months training.

"They lugged and fired service revolvers, threw each other around in self-defense class and took criminal law courses like the rest of us," a male cadet said.

Deputy Says Bad Decision Caused W. Virginia Deaths

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sheriff's deputy says residents could have been evacuated before the disastrous collapse of a coal-refuse dam in West Virginia if it had not been declared safe by a mining-company official.

Otto Mutters, Lorado, W. Va., chief deputy sheriff, told a Senate Labor subcommittee Tuesday that Buffalo Mining Company Vice President Steve Dasovich told him and another deputy, "It's all right, you fellows can go back," less than two hours before the massive dam collapsed.

"If Steve had known it was going to break, we could have gotten everybody out," said Mutters. "He made a bad judgment call."

"I based that on what I considered to be sound judgment," Dasovich testified.

The dam collapsed minutes after 8 a.m., Saturday, Feb. 26. The list of known dead stands at 118. Seven are still missing.

Dasovich said he inspected the dam site sometime after 6 a.m. Saturday along with strip mine superintendent Jack Kent.

Dasovich said he also called the sheriff and told him "the thing looks all right."

Kent, who had checked the rising water level in the dam through Friday night and into the predawn hours, said he was concerned about the stability of the dam.

But, he testified, he thought

State Eyes Tight Budget

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State agencies have begun examining their budget needs for the 1974-75 biennium with the knowledge they probably won't be getting any more money than they are now.

This is because Gov. John Gilligan is not likely to ask for a tax increase, and even if he did, the legislature probably wouldn't approve it.

Finance Director Harold Hovey said this means that with a few exceptions, like welfare and higher education, state agencies will have to be content in 1974-75 with finding more economical ways to spend the same amount of money that they have now.

Hovey noted there will be a 12 to 15 per cent increase in state revenues during that biennium without any change in the tax structure. But he said this will be eaten up in most cases by higher operating costs.

Hovey met with the fiscal officers of all state departments recently to discuss guidelines for drawing up budget requests. He said tentative budget estimates will be presented soon to Gilligan, who will then return them with instructions for any cuts or changes.

Bobby Baker To Be Freed On Thursday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bobby Baker, the quiet country boy who became a confidant of Senate powerbrokers and gained a degree of power himself, will be released Thursday from the federal prison camp at Allenwood, Pa.

The 43-year-old Baker, one-time secretary to Senate Democrats, will have served 18 months and 17 days for attempted tax evasion, grand larceny, transportation of stolen money, fraud and conspiracy.

Without parole, he could not have been freed before next May 6.

Baker came to the nation's capital from Pickens, S.C., and from his first day as an errand-running page he earned a reputation as a tireless worker.

He went to law school at night and, as years went by, made himself invaluable to many senators.

Baker received money far beyond the $19,600 a year he was paid as secretary to the Senate majority. He estimated it at $2 million—from his motel, his vending-machine interests, his insurance and real estate ventures, his travel agency and his law firm.

A wry smile cracked the craggy face of Ken Harrelson, but the eyes held the hungry glint of a hunting hawk.

"I'm going to be the first player to make $100,000 a year in one sport, shift over to another sport and make $100,000 a year there," he said.

He's just a little over $99,000 short.

Ron Shumate Named UT Head Cage Coach

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Ron Shumate, a native of Portsmouth, Ohio, has been named head basketball coach at the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga, succeeding Leon Ford, who resigned to become a fulltime teacher.

Shumate has been Ford's top assistant since coming to UTC in June 1970 after serving as high school coach in Niceville, Fla.

Howard was named to the All State team and Seaver was a unanimous selection on the All-District squad.

ably less than spectacular since he abandoned an eight-year baseball career as an outfielder-first baseman with Boston and Cleveland to try and conquer the demanding world of tournament golf.

He once led the American League in runs batted in, hit 35 home runs with Boston one season, and, at one time, had a $100,000 annual salary.

His biggest check in golf has been just over $600.

He failed to make it through the Tournament Players Division school last fall, picking up in disgust before completing the testing grind that enables young players to compete on the lucrative pro tour.

He's played in two major tour events this year—and hasn't completed either failing to qualify for the final two rounds in both the Doral-Eastern and the Atlanta Classic.

"I've had lot of invitations to play," Harrelson said. "But since I didn't get through the school, I don't have a players' card. If you don't have the card, you can play in only three events."

"I've played in two. The other one will probably be Cleveland."

The 32-year-old Harrelson, still whippet-lean as he was when he was dubbed "The Hawk" as he roamed the major league outfields, admits he "wasn't ready when I first tried to come out."

Predictably, he's a hard hitter. He won a driving contest—with a belt of 31 yards—against the regular pros in Atlanta. But that has been some of his trouble.

"He can hit it, but he doesn't know where it's going to go," said Bob Toski, a former touring pro and now one of the game's most respected teachers.

Lindsay Hairston, 6-foot-8 center, led Michigan State's freshmen in basketball scoring with an average of 29.9 points a game last season.

Rain Blesses Both Tribe And Baltimore

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Both the Cleveland Indians and the Detroit Tigers looked on the rainout of Tuesday night's scheduled contest as a blessing in disguise.

The Tigers backed into a first-place tie when the Baltimore Orioles were blanked, 6-0, by the Boston Red Sox, and the Indians, a game behind in the torrid American League East race, got a welcome day off after staggering home from a road trip that concluded with six straight defeats.

"Yet, a postponement right now doesn't bother me at all the way things have been going for us," said Tiger manager Billy Martin, whose team has been hit hard by injuries. The Tigers lost a doubleheader Monday to the New York Yankees.

And Indians manager Ken Aspromonte agreed, saying the rainout could "turn out to be a blessing in disguise. Maybe a day off will help some of our guys take their minds off their hitting problems, and an extra day of rest ought to help both Milt Wilcox and Gaylord Perry."

The rainout means Wilcox, 4-4, will face Tom Timmerman, 3-4, tonight and Perry, 8-3 will take on Joe Coleman, 7-3, Thursday.

The Indians, who've scored just 19 runs in their last 14 games, have hit at just a .170 clip over that period.

The Tigers' problems are more of a physical nature.

Pitcher Les Cain was just put on the 21-day disabled list as was outfielder Willie Horton. Outfielders Gates Brown and Al Kaline are nursing pulled leg muscles, pitcher Joe Niekro has a sore knee and catcher Bill Freehan is playing with a hairline fracture of his right thumb. Freehan is playing first base and seeing no action behind the plate.

Rain Mars National Golf Day

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — National Golf Day Tuesday at Canterbury Golf Club in suburban Shaker Heights was marred by an all-day rain that sent scores sky high above par.

Best round of the day was a one-over-par 72 by Jack Nicklaus, who bested Lee Trevino in the men's competition. Trevino shot a 76. Kathy Whitworth set the target score for women with a four-over par 80 and topped the 82 turned in by JoAnne Carner.

The four whizzed through the 6,845-yard course in three hours in an attempt to dodge the rain that fell through the first 16 holes of play that determines target scores for amateur golfers to attempt to better.

"I've always dreamed about coming to Cleveland and playing golf in the rain," Trevino said. "I was told once I could move my ball from casual water but, my God, the whole state of Ohio is casual water."

Added Miss Whitworth, "We were playing so fast I thought I was on a roller coaster."

Nicklaus' round included two birdies and three bogies. His round was aided when three of his tee shots struck umbrellas and caromed into better position.

Crime And Sports Linked In Louisiana

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional committee probing alleged Mafia infiltration into professional sports has again been told how offers of a Louisiana racetrack and of a Buffalo, N.Y., holding company have contributed to the political campaigns of Louisiana governors.

Further disclosures about the operation of Jefferson Downs race track, located outside New Orleans, could come today. Aaron Kahn, a member of the New Orleans Crime Commission, and Kenneth Norris, of the Louisiana State Police, are scheduled to testify before the Crime.

Tuesday's testimony was highlighted by the disclosure by John Masoni, president of Jefferson Downs, that he had given $5,000 to the campaign coffers of former Louisiana Gov. John McKeithen.

He said several of his associates, including the Jacobs brothers who head up Emprise Corp. of Buffalo, N.Y., contributed an additional $20,000.

Masoni, who said he had been in racing for 30 years, said the money was given to Pete Menefee, who served under McKeithen as commissioner of conservation.

He did not say how much the Jacobs brothers gave to McKeithen. Emprise owns most of the stock in Jefferson Downs.

The holding corporation, which recently was convicted in Los Angeles of conspiracy to use interstate facilities to acquire a hidden interest in the Frontier Hotel in Las Vegas, was linked in earlier testimony to a contribution to the late Louisiana Gov. Earl Long.

Bradford P. Leacy testified two weeks ago that Emprise gave $10,000 to Long's campaign. He said the money was paid while a subsidiary of the Buffalo firm was involved in

All-Star Cage Game Played For Charity

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Seventeen players from the National and American Basketball Associations "chase up sides" Tuesday night in a benefit game and the East team, coached by a sports writer, defeated the West 161-153 at the Richmond Coliseum.

The game, played for the benefit of Rubicon, an anti-drug organization, drew a crowd of about 4,500—nearly 2,000 of them youngsters who were admitted free.

Bob Love of the NBA Chicago Bulls led all scorers with 31 points for the East, while Willie Sojourner of the ABA Virginia Squires had 27 and two other ABA stars—Rick Barry and Bill Meichoni of the New York Nets—finished with 22 each.

The losers were led by player-coach Ray Scott of the Squires with 27 points, followed by two other members of the Squires, Bernie Williams with 25 and Julius Erving with 23.

Pete Vecsey, New York Daily News sports writer, coached the East.

Alton White Signs With N.Y. Raiders

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Raiders of the World Hockey Association announced today the signing of right winger Alton White, one of only two black players in professional hockey.

White, who celebrated his 27th birthday today, has spent the last three years with Providence of the American Hockey League and scored 30 goals for the Reds last season.

The only other black in pro hockey is Willie O'Ree of the San Diego Gulls in the Western Hockey League. He played 45 games for the Boston Bruins of The National Hockey League in 1957-58 and 1960-61.

A total of $56.4 million in orders were taken at the 1972 National Boat Show in New York.

reorganization of Jefferson Downs.

The committee also expressed interest in a stock transaction in which Masoni sold 800,000 shares of Jefferson Downs stock to Emprise, which later sold the stock to Masoni's nephews, Robert Masoni and Carl Zipfel. Masoni said Emprise paid him $400,000 for the stock but his nephews bought it back — with a loan from him — for $274,000.

He said the stock transaction was simply a device by which he attempted to transfer some of his holdings to his only heirs before his death. Emprise, Masoni testified, received in return an option to purchase the 800,000 shares back from the nephews plus 400,000 shares which he held. That option would be exercised upon his death.

Also testifying Tuesday was Raymond Traynor, chief investigator for the U. S. Trotting Association. He said he had found fixed trotting horse races in four states but had no evidence that organized crime was involved.

Traynor said the fixed races occurred at Scioto Downs in Ohio in 1963, at Hinsdale, New Hampshire in 1965, at Louisville Downs, Kentucky, in 1971 and at Wheeling Downs, West Virginia, in 1971. Two races at Hinsdale were found to be fixed, he said.

Tony Jacklin Billy Casper To Compete

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Tony Jacklin of England and globetrotting Billy Casper make their return to the American tour this week as two of the favorites in the very strong field arrayed for the $175,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament.

Arnold Palmer, South African Gary Player, Lee Trevino, George Archer, Jerry Heard, Bob Lunn and Tom Weiskopf also are in the 144-man field that begins a 72-hole test Thursday on the Quail Hollow Country Club course, a vast track that stretches 7,278 yards over rolling hills and plays to a par 72.

Of the game's great names only Jack Nicklaus is among the missing. The Masters champion and leading money winner took the week off to consider his shabby showing in the last two rounds at Atlanta last week and try to find a putting stroke.

Casper pulled a sagging game together in his last American appearance a month ago when he tied Chi Chi Rodriguez for first place at Dallas only to lose in a playoff. He's been on a tour of Europe and North Africa since then.

Robinson Helps Dodgers Beat Giants, Take Over 1st

By BRUCE LOWIT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Los Angeles Dodgers against the San Francisco Giants? To Frank Robinson, it's just another ball game. But he's got other incentives.

"I haven't been around here long enough to get any specific feeling over the Dodgers-Giants rivalry," the Los Angeles right fielder said Tuesday night. "These games haven't got the adrenalin flowing."

"But this was a very important game," Robinson added. "It got us into first."

More properly, Robinson got the Dodgers into first with his bat and glove. In the top of the eighth inning he followed Willie Davis' leadoff single with a tie-breaking home run.

Then, in the bottom of the inning, with the Giants threatening to score—and stumbling all over themselves in the futile attempt—he gunned down a San Francisco runner at the plate to preserve the Dodgers' 5-3 victory.

In the rest of the National League's weather-wrecked schedule, the New York Mets beat Philadelphia 7-0 and Cincinnati defeated Houston 9-5. Rain postponed the San Diego at-Atlanta and Pittsburgh-at-Montreal games and cold weather knocked out St. Louis' contest against the Cubs in Chicago.

Robinson also drove in a run with a sacrifice fly as the Dodgers built a 3-0 lead, only to see it evaporate by the seventh inning as Dave Kingman belted his 12th home run and Bobby Bonds knocked in two runs with a single and a fly ball.

Then came the bizarre bottom of the eighth.

The Giants managed to get through it without a run despite three singles and a hit batsman.

Tito Fuentes and Ed Goodson singled and Damasco Blanco, just up from the minors, went in to run for Goodson.

Kingman, the next batter, then missed a bunt attempt and Fuentes, who'd taken off on the pitch, was trapped between second and third.

He finally managed, with some urging by the Dodgers, to make it back to second, only to find Blanco already there. Blanco was called out on the play.

The Mets' Jon Matlack, who has yet to lose this year, chalked up victory No. 6 by limiting the Phillies to just three harmless singles.

Rusty Staub got more than that all by himself for New York, driving in four runs with two doubles and two singles as the Mets, taking advantage of Pittsburgh's enforced idleness, widened their National League East lead to four games over the Bucs.

Johnny Bench was Cincinnati's big gun against the Astros, driving in four runs with a tie-breaking single and two home runs, the first one an inside-the-park job. It was Houston's fourth straight defeat.

Rain Blesses Both Tribe And Baltimore

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Both the Cleveland Indians and the Detroit Tigers looked on the rainout of Tuesday night's scheduled contest as a blessing in disguise.

The Tigers backed into a first-place tie when the Baltimore Orioles were blanked, 6-0, by the Boston Red Sox, and the Indians, a game behind in the torrid American League East race, got a welcome day off after staggering home from a road trip that concluded with six straight defeats.

"Yet, a postponement right now doesn't bother me at all the way things have been going for us," said Tiger manager Billy Martin, whose team has been hit hard by injuries. The Tigers lost a doubleheader Monday to the New York Yankees.

And Indians manager Ken Aspromonte agreed, saying the rainout could "turn out to be a blessing in disguise. Maybe a day off will help some of our guys take their minds off their hitting problems, and an extra day of rest ought to help both Milt Wilcox and Gaylord Perry."

The rainout means Wilcox, 4-4, will face Tom Timmerman, 3-4, tonight and Perry, 8-3 will take on Joe Coleman, 7-3, Thursday.

The Indians, who've scored just 19 runs in their last 14 games, have hit at just a .170 clip over that period.

The Tigers' problems are more of a physical nature.

Pitcher Les Cain was just put on the 21-day disabled list as was outfielder Willie Horton. Outfielders Gates Brown and Al Kaline are nursing pulled leg muscles, pitcher Joe Nickro has a sore knee and catcher Bill Freehan is playing with a hairline fracture of his right thumb. Freehan is playing first base and seeing no action behind the plate.

Rain Mars National Golf Day

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — National Golf Day Tuesday at Canterbury Golf Club in suburban Shaker Heights was marred by an all-day rain that sent scores skyward above par.

Best round of the day was a one-over-par 72 by Jack Nicklaus, who bested Lee Trevino in the men's competition. Trevino shot a 76. Kathy Whitworth set the target score for women with a four-over par 80 and topped the 82 turned in by JoAnne Carner.

The four whizzed through the 6,845-yard course in three hours in an attempt to dodge the rain that fell through the first 16 holes of play that determines target scores for amateur golfers to attempt to better.

"I've always dreamed about coming to Cleveland and playing golf in the rain," Trevino said. "I was told once I could move my ball from casual water but, my God, the whole state of Ohio is casual water."

Added Miss Whitworth, "We were playing so fast I thought I was on a roller coaster."

Nicklaus' round included two birdies and three bogies. His round was aided when three of his tee shots struck umbrellas and caromed into better position.

Crime And Sports Linked In Louisiana

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional committee probing alleged Mafia infiltration into professional sports has again been told how offers of a Louisiana racetrack and of a Buffalo, N.Y., holding company have contributed to the political campaigns of Louisiana governors.

Further disclosures about the operation of Jefferson Downs race track, located outside New Orleans, could come today. Aaron Kahn, a member of the New Orleans Crime Commission, and Kenneth Norris, of the Louisiana State Police, are scheduled to testify before the Crime.

Tuesday's testimony was highlighted by the disclosure by John Masoni, president of Jefferson Downs, that he had given $5,000 to the campaign coffers of former Louisiana Gov. John McKeithen.

He said several of his associates, including the Jacobs brothers who head up Emprise Corp. of Buffalo, N.Y., contributed an additional $20,000.

Masoni, who said he had been in racing for 30 years, said the money was given to Pete Menefee, who served under McKeithen as commissioner of conservation.

He did not say how much the Jacobs brothers gave to McKeithen. Emprise owns most of the stock in Jefferson Downs.

The holding corporation, which recently was convicted in Los Angeles of conspiracy to use interstate facilities to acquire a hidden interest in the Frontier Hotel in Las Vegas, was linked in earlier testimony to a contribution to the late Louisiana Gov. Earl Long.

Brewers Trim New York; Win 3-1

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Del Crandall will remember his major league managerial debut for a long time and Skip Lockwood will never forget Dave Bristol.

"I certainly should be able to remember a one-hitter for a long time," Crandall said Tuesday night after taking over as skipper of the Milwaukee Brewers and watching Lockwood tame New York 3-1 with Rusty Torres' sixth-inning single the Yankees' only hit.

Lockwood, who hurled a six-hit shutout against Detroit last Thursday, said he felt badly when Bristol was fired as manager three days later.

"You can't ever say a manager is your friend," Lockwood said, "but when you lose someone who's taught you a lot you feel the loss. Dave and I had no love lost when I first came up. I was a cocky kid. But in three years I learned from him and got to understand him. He helped me on the baseball field and off and I'll be a better person and a better ballplayer for having played for him."

Elsewhere in the American League, Boston trounced Baltimore 6-0, Texas nipped Oakland 3-2, Minnesota edged Kansas City 3-2 and California whipped the Chicago White Sox 6-0. Detroit and Cleveland were rained out.

Only 4,175 fans saw Crandall's managerial debut in 44-degree weather with gusts up to 26 miles an hour. It was warm inside the Brewers' clubhouse, though.

"I'm very, very pleased and happy about it," Crandall said. "It's just a beginning, but it's a win and that's what's important."

The Brewers tallied in the second, third and eighth innings on run-scoring singles by Ellie Rodriguez, George Scott and Mike Ferraro. That was more than enough for Lockwood, even though the 25-year-old right-hander struggled with his control, losing his shutout in the sixth when Torres singled following two walks.

Boston's Ray Culp throttled Baltimore on three hits and Carlton Fisk and Tommy Harper homered off Mike Cuellar as the Red Sox ended the Orioles' four-game winning streak and dropped them into a first-place tie with Detroit in the AL East.

The Sox took advantage of an error by Brooks Robinson, of all people, on a potential double play ball in the second inning to score their first three runs. Culp squeezed home the first one and Luis Aparicio singled for two more.

Bench Leads Reds To 9-5 Victory

HOUSTON (AP) — The Cincinnati chapter of the Astros Alumni Association and Johnny Bench are moving the Cincinnati Reds right into the thick of the National League west title picture.

Bench clubbed two home runs—including an inside-the-park shot—and a single to drive in four runs as the Reds handed Houston its fourth straight loss 9-5 Tuesday night.

Bench—none ever called him speedy—said it was third base coach Alex Grammas' faith that permitted the unusual inside-the-park home run to lead off the second inning.

"As I was going into second base I knew the ball hit the top of the fence and bounced back," Bench said. "Metzger (shortstop Roger) was going out to get it. Alex had enough faith that I could make it so I knew it must be far out there."

Astro fielders Jimmy Wynn and Bob Watson converged at the wall in left-center field on Bench's fly ball. Wynn went for it and missed and the ball bounced far back into the field.

"It was my fault," Wynn said. "I didn't even hustle after it. It was just a mental lapse. Roger had to come out and get it and take a couple of steps to throw. If I had gotten it, he wouldn't have scored and maybe Don Wilson could have gotten out of the inning."

Four former Houston Astros who went to Cincinnati in an off-season trade were in the lineup for Cincinnati Tuesday night, and they all did their share, especially starting pitcher Jack Billingham who allowed only five hits for eight innings.

He was bombed in the ninth however. "I don't think I got tired," he said. "We had the lead and I started rushing and didn't concentrate." Houston rallied for three runs and five hits in the bottom of the ninth.

Did his eight outstanding innings have anything to do with being a former Astro? "That had something to do with it," he said. "But I think it was more being 1-6."

Singles by Bench and Denis Menke, another former Astro, and a sacrifice fly by Joe Hagge brought home three runs for Cincinnati in the sixth. Bench's two-run homer and Bobby Tolan's two-run triple accounted for four Reddies runs in the ninth.

Houston's three runs in the ninth came from singles by Bob Watson and John Edwards and a sacrifice fly by Doug Rader.

Texas' Rich Hand allowed Oakland only three hits in 8 1-3 innings but needed a strong relief job by Horacio Pina to preserve his first victory of the season. Dave Duncan homered for the A's—his 10th—and Ted Ford for the Rangers, who got the winning run off Ken Holtzman in the seventh on a single by Ken Suarez, a sacrifice, pitch runner Dave Nelson's steal of third and Toby Harrah's sacrifice fly.

Phil Roof, hitting .180 at game time, powered Minnesota over Kansas City with his first two home runs of the season, solo shots in the second and fourth innings. It was the first time in the catcher's 14-year pro career that he hit two homers in one game. Roof may have been embarrassed by the fact that Jim Perry, the Twins' starting pitcher, had a .313 batting average.

Bob Oliver drove in four runs with homer and single to support Nolan Ryan's seven-hit, 10-strikeout pitching as the Angels sent the White Sox to their fifth defeat in the last six games.

BIG LEAGUE TIPS FOR LITTLE LEAGUERS:
LESSON 2 - ALWAYS HAVE A THIRD PARTY
HANDLE ALL DISCUSSIONS WITH MANAGEMENT.

Brewers Trim New York; Win 3-1

By HERSHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Del Crandall will remember his major league managerial debut for a long time and Skip Lockwood will never forget Dave Bristol.

"I certainly should be able to remember a one-hitter for a long time," Crandall said Tuesday night after taking over as skipper of the Milwaukee Brewers and watching Lockwood tame New York 3-1 with Rusty Torres' sixth-inning single the Yankees' only hit.

Lockwood, who hurled a six-hit shutout against Detroit last Thursday, said he felt badly when Bristol was fired as manager three days later.

"You can't ever say a manager is your friend," Lockwood said, "but when you lose someone who's taught you a lot you feel the loss. Dave and I had no love lost when I first came up. I was a cocky kid. But in three years I learned from him and got to understand him. He helped me on the baseball field and off and I'll be a better person and a better ballplayer for having played for him."

Elsewhere in the American League, Boston trounced Baltimore 6-0, Texas nipped Oakland 3-2, Minnesota edged Kansas City 3-2 and California whipped the Chicago White Sox 6-0. Detroit and Cleveland were rained out.

Only 4,175 fans saw Crandall's managerial debut in 44-degree weather with gusts up to 26 miles an hour. It was warm inside the Brewers' clubhouse, though.

"I'm very, very pleased and happy about it," Crandall said. "It's just a beginning, but it's a win and that's what's important."

The Brewers tallied in the second, third and eighth innings on run-scoring singles by Ellie Rodriguez, George Scott and Mike Ferraro. That was more than enough for Lockwood, even though the 25-year-old right-hander struggled with his control, losing his shutout in the sixth when Torres singled following two walks.

Boston's Ray Culp throttled Baltimore on three hits and Carlton Fisk and Tommy Harper homered off Mike Cuellar as the Red Sox ended the Orioles' four-game winning streak and dropped them into a first-place tie with Detroit in the AL East.

The Sox took advantage of an error by Brooks Robinson, of all people, on a potential double play ball in the second inning to score their first three runs. Culp squeezed home the first one and Luis Aparicio singled for two more.

Bench Leads Reds To 9-5 Victory

HOUSON (AP) — The Cincinnati chapter of the Astros Alumni Association and Johnny Bench are moving the Cincinnati Reds right into the thick of the National League west title picture.

Bench clubbed two home runs—including an inside-the-park shot—and a single to drive in four runs as the Reds handed Houston its fourth straight loss 9-5 Tuesday night.

Bench—none ever called him speedy—said it was third base coach Alex Grammas' faith that permitted the unusual inside-the-park home run to lead off the second inning.

"As I was going into second base I knew the ball hit the top of the fence and bounced back," Bench said. "Metzger (shortstop Roger) was going out to get it. Alex had enough faith that I could make it so I knew it must be far out there."

Astro fielders Jimmy Wynn and Bob Watson converged at the wall in left-center field on Bench's fly ball. Wynn went for it and missed and the ball bounced far back into the field. "It was my fault," Wynn said. "I didn't even hustle after it. It was just a mental lapse. Roger had to come out and get it and take a couple of steps to throw. If I had gotten it, he wouldn't have scored and maybe Don Wilson could have gotten out of the inning."

Four former Houston Astros who went to Cincinnati in an off-season trade were in the lineup for Cincinnati Tuesday night, and they all did their share, especially starting pitcher Jack Billingham who allowed only five hits for eight innings.

He was bombed in the ninth however. "I don't think I got tired," he said. "We had the lead and I started rushing and didn't concentrate." Houston rallied for three runs and five hits in the bottom of the ninth.

Did his eight outstanding innings have anything to do with being a former Astro? "That had something to do with it," he said. "But I think it was more being 1-6."

Singles by Bench and Denis Menke, another former Astro, and a sacrifice fly by Joe Hagge brought home three runs for Cincinnati in the sixth. Bench's two-run homer and Bobby Tolan's two-run triple accounted for four Redleg runs in the ninth.

Houston's three runs in the ninth came from singles by Bob Watson and John Edwards and a sacrifice fly by Doug Rader.

Texas' Rich Hand allowed Oakland only three hits in 8 1/3 innings but needed a strong relief job by Horacio Pina to preserve his first victory of the season. Dave Duncan homered for the A's—his 10th—and Ted Ford for the Rangers, who got the winning run off Ken Holtzman in the seventh on a single by Ken Suarez, a sacrifice, pinch runner Dave Nelson's steal of third and Toby Harrah's sacrifice fly.

Phil Roof, hitting .180 at game time, powered Minnesota over Kansas City with his first two home runs of the season, solo shots in the second and fourth innings. It was the first time in the catcher's 14-year pro career that he hit two homers in one game. Roof may have been embarrassed by the fact that Jim Perry, the Twins' starting pitcher, had a .313 batting average.

Bob Oliver drove in four runs with homer and single to support Nolan Ryan's seven-hit, 10-strikeout pitching as the Angels sent the White Sox to their fifth defeat in the last six games.

RECRUITER — Chief Petty Officer Harold Griffith, 300 Lewis Road, Circleville, has volunteered his services in assisting the Naval Reserve Recruiters of this area in explaining technical school opportunities now available in the two-year active duty program. Chief Griffith enlisted in the Naval Service July 1942, spending most of his time at sea on the USS Omaha and the USS Krechmer. He will be at the naval recruiting office at the post office.

N&W Plans Cleanup

Armed with trash bags, paint brushes, rakes, trucks and other assorted equipment, Circleville N & W personnel will join some 27,000 Norfolk and Western Railway employees to begin "Operation Clean Up" next week.

The one-day kickoff campaign Thursday is designed to help improve the ecology by removing refuse and by cleaning the railroad along its 8,000-mile, 14-state system.

"We expect to clean all buildings inside and out and remove debris along the right-of-way between Main Street and Clinton Street" W. T. Spain, Circleville Agent Yardmaster says.

"This will be a project carried out by our employees with the participation and cooperation of our labor organizations," explained John P. Fishwick, N & W president and chief executive officer.

"It is a joint effort of labor and management to improve the appearance of our railroad. Employees in each craft and in each location throughout our system will make their own plans on what activities they will undertake and we hope every employee will take part," he said.

"We believe that a united, cooperative effort by all employees can change the face of the company, especially those yards and areas that are visible to the public," Fishwick said.

He noted that "we cannot clean every mile of our system or every closet in our buildings in one day," and emphasized that the program will be a continuing one.

The June 1 date for the clean up project was selected because of the similarity in the activities which occurred on that same date in 1886 when N & W employees changed the gauge of the railroad from Bristol, Va., to Norfolk, Va. — a distance of 408 miles — in one day.

In 1886 all train traffic was halted for the day to give crews absolute freedom. This year, the trains will operate as usual.

Drivers Fined In City Court

Four drivers appeared in Circleville Municipal Court Tuesday to answer charges of driving while intoxicated.

Theodore L. Mochel, 22, Lemont, Ill. and Herbert Copley Jr., 27, Columbus, were fined $150 and costs, sentenced to 30 days in the Pickaway County Jail with 27 days suspended and lost their driver's licenses for 6 months.

Ray L. Holcomb, 28, Mt. Sterling and Robert A. Tyler, 39, Columbus, were fined $150 and costs, sentenced to 30 days in jail and lost their driver's licenses for 6 months.

Gilbert Lape, 28, A. and W. Trailer Court, forfeited $24 bond for speeding 65 miles per hour in a 50 zone.

Laurelville FD To Demonstrate Fire Equipment

The Laurelville Fire Dept. has scheduled an equipment demonstration and training day on Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. The Adelphi Fire Department will participate in the demonstrations.

The activities for the day will be held in the field adjacent to the baseball park, and will include a building fire, an automobile fire, and oil pit fire, and a pumping demonstration.

The demonstration will be open to the public so the residents of the Laurelville Fire District, which includes Perry, Benton and Salter Creek Townships in Hocking County, can observe fire fighting methods and equipment uses.

The wives of the firemen will serve free iced tea, coffee and donuts.

Lunch Program...

Among the USDA criticisms was that an arbitrary limit of 200 lunches was placed on one program in Jersey City, N.J., although far more eligible children lived in the area. At two sites in Trenton, N.J., refrigeration for storage of lunches and milk was deemed inadequate. In Newark, N.J., program sponsors were said to be paying too much for meals they served, refrigeration was lacking and some food waste was found.

In Little Neck, N.Y., one entire program was declared ineligible for the summer feeding program because there were few, if any, needy children in the area.

In Pittsburgh, sandwiches were served unwrapped, rotten fruit and warm milk were seen by evaluators, and spoiled meat, rancid butter and spoiled milk were reported. In Philadelphia, ineligible children and adults were given free lunches, according to the survey.

Serving ineligible participants also was reported in Birmingham and Mobile, Ala.; Jacksonville and Tampa, Fla.; and Atlanta, Augusta, Columbus, Cordele, Macon and Savannah, Ga. In Rome, Ga., meals were prepared in an unsanitary, ill-equipped kitchen at a concession stand in a football stadium, the study said.

Unsanitary conditions were found also in Smithfield, N.C.

In Memphis and Nashville, children were seen returning to feeding sites several times for additional lunches and adults ate meals without paying, the report said.

At one site in Chicago, lunches were handed out to anyone who asked for them, and at another, day-old lunches were being served, according to the survey. In Indianapolis, USDA personnel said, there was no registration of participants in the program and no effort to determine eligibility.

In Detroit, lunches were said to be served indiscriminately to all children and some adults. In St. Louis, the evaluators said food was stored and transported under improper temperatures and sanitation conditions.

In Cincinnati, the report said, extra lunches were given to old-age homes, taken to local supermarkets and taken off-site to nonparticipating children. In Cleveland, lunches were served on a first-come, first-served basis.

In Albuquerque, N.M., children were reported taking as many as five lunches each, and storage and transport did not meet city sanitation and health requirements. In San Diego, as many as 15 lunches per child were served, and less than 10 per cent of the city's eligible children were reached because the program was not large enough.

In Long Beach and Los Angeles, Calif., food waste was termed excessive.

And in Vancouver, Wash., the report said, uninsulated containers for hot and cold foods posed a potential health problem.

Gov. Dale Bumpers easily won Democratic nomination for a second term over four rivals. The Republicans did not have a statewide primary fight.

McClellan, 76, whose age figured as a major issue, said he had demonstrated during the campaign that his age was not a handicap and that he was ready to wage a vigorous runoff campaign if necessary. He has been in the Senate for 30 years.

McClellan led the ticket as expected in Tuesday's primary, but his vote total was well below the majority in the four-man race that would have allowed him to escape the runoff.

The handsome Pryor, 37, recognizing that Arkansas incumbents traditionally have fared poorly in runoff elections, predicted victory in the June 13 rematch, promising the voters "one of the most exciting races ever run in Arkansas."

McClellan In Trouble

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Democrats have refused to give veteran Sen. John L. McClellan a majority endorsement for nomination to a sixth term, forcing a politically risky runoff with Rep. David Pryor.

McClellan led the ticket as expected in Tuesday's primary, but his vote total was well below the majority in the four-man race that would have allowed him to escape the runoff.

CHS 'Dropout' Starts New Job At Age 70

Stanley Blackwell, a former Circleville resident, will be taking a new job with the Peace Corps at the age of 70.

Blackwell is presently living in Alhambra, California, and was a tool and die maker for 44 years before retiring last November.

During his sophomore year at Circleville, Blackwell dropped out of school to join the Navy but he later returned and graduated with the class of 1922. He states that with the training he received at CHS he was able to "accomplish bigger and better things in life."

Blackwell applied for a position in the Peace Corps not long after he retired but due to the red tape and appropriations he was signed on just recently. It has been Blackwell's ambition to join the Peace Corps since it was formed in 1961.

He will be leaving for Puerto Rico to receive special training and later he will leave for Caracas, Venezuela and will be one of 25 instructors at a well-equipped metalwork training center. The center will have an enrollment of around 125 men some with no experience and others who want to refine their skills.

Blackwell anticipates some language trouble but he feels that the Spanish will "rub off on him."

"I've taught a lot of young fellows — made some good men out of boys when they had the right stuff in them. The ones I haven't any use for are those who follow the line of least resistance, like those milling around the campuses today," Blackwell says.

With the new incentive Blackwell has "something to really look forward to and put everything in when I get there."

Starting a new profession at an advanced age is nothing new in the Blackwell family. His mother became a doctor after she was 50 and was still practicing medicine when she died at 85. "Her slogan was 'keep busy' and that's the one I'm following," Blackwell says.

Apparently referring to the fact that the gunmen were not Arabs, the statement said the attack reaffirmed "solidarity of world revolutionary forces and proves that the Palestinian cause does not belong to the Palestinian people alone."

Israeli prime Minister Golda Meir broke off her vacation and the Israeli Cabinet held an emergency session today to discuss the massacre.

RECRUITER — Chief Petty Officer Harold Griffith, 300 Lewis Road, Circleville, Ohio, has volunteered his services in assisting the Naval Reserve Recruiters of this area in explaining technical school opportunities now available in the two-year active duty program. Chief Griffith enlisted in the Naval Service July 1942, spending most of his time at sea on the USS Omaha and the USS Ketchikan. He will be at the naval recruiting office at the post office.

N&W Plans Cleanup

Armed with trash bags, paint brushes, rakes, trucks and other assorted equipment, Circleville N & W personnel will join some 27,000 Norfolk and Western Railway employees to begin "Operation Clean Up" next week.

The one-day kickoff campaign Thursday is designed to help improve the ecology by removing refuse and by cleaning the railroad along its 8,000-mile, 14-state system.

"We expect to clean all buildings inside and out and remove debris along the right-of-way between Main Street and Clinton Street," W. T. Spain, Circleville Agent Yardmaster says.

"This will be a project carried out by our employees with the participation and cooperation of our labor organizations," explained John P. Fishwick, N & W president and chief executive officer.

"It is a joint effort of labor and management to improve the appearance of our railroad. Employees in each craft and in each location throughout our system will make their own plans on what activities they will undertake and we hope every employee will take part," he said.

"We believe that a united, cooperative effort by all employees can change the face of the company, especially those yards and areas that are visible to the public," Fishwick said.

He noted that "we cannot clean every mile of our system or every closet in our buildings in one day," and emphasized that the program will be a continuing one.

The June 1 date for the clean up project was selected because of the similarity in the activities which occurred on that same date in 1886 when N & W employees changed the gauge of the railroad from Bristol, Va., to Norfolk, Va. — a distance of 408 miles — in one day.

In 1886 all train traffic was halted for the day to give crews absolute freedom. This year, the trains will operate as usual.

Drivers Fined In City Court

Four drivers appeared in Circleville Municipal Court Tuesday to answer charges of driving while intoxicated.

Theodore L. Mochel, 22, Lemont, Ill. and Herbert Copley Jr., 27, Columbus, were fined $150 and costs, sentenced to 30 days in the Pickaway County Jail with 27 days suspended and lost their driver's licenses for 6 months.

Ray L. Holcomb, 28, Mt. Sterling and Robert A. Tyler, 39, Columbus, were fined $150 and costs, sentenced to 30 days in jail and lost their driver's licenses for 6 months.

Gilbert Lape, 28, A. and W. Trailer Court, forfeited $24 bond for speeding 65 miles per hour in a 50 zone.

Laurelville FD To Demonstrate Fire Equipment

The Laurelville Fire Dept. has scheduled an equipment demonstration and training day on Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m. The Adelphi Fire Department will participate in the demonstrations.

The activities for the day will be held in the field adjacent to the baseball park, and will include a building fire, an automobile fire, and oil pit fire, and a pumping demonstration.

The demonstration will be open to the public so the residents of the Laurelville Fire District, which includes Perry, Benton and Salt Creek Townships in Hocking County, can observe fire fighting methods and equipment uses.

The wives of the firemen will serve free iced tea, coffee and donuts.

Lunch Program...

Among the USDA criticisms was that an arbitrary limit of 200 lunches was placed on one program in Jersey City, N.J., although far more eligible children lived in the area. At two sites in Trenton, N.J., refrigeration for storage of lunches and milk was deemed inadequate. In Newark, N.J., program sponsors were said to be paying too much for meals they served, refrigeration was lacking and some food waste was found.

In Little Neck, N.Y., one entire program was declared ineligible for the summer feeding program because there were few, if any, needy children in the area.

In Pittsburgh, sandwiches were served unwrapped, rotten fruit and warm milk were seen by evaluators, and spoiled meat, rancid butter and spoiled milk were reported. In Philadelphia, ineligible children and adults were given free lunches, according to the survey.

Serving ineligible participants also was reported in Birmingham and Mobile, Ala.; Jacksonville and Tampa, Fla.; and Atlanta, Augusta, Columbus, Cordele, Macon and Savannah, Ga. In Rome, Ga., meals were prepared in an unsanitary, ill-equipped kitchen at a concession stand in a football stadium, the study said.

Unsanitary conditions were found also in Smithfield, N.C.

In Memphis and Nashville, children were seen returning to feeding sites several times for additional lunches and adults ate meals without paying, the report said.

At one site in Chicago, lunches were handed out to anyone who asked for them, and at another, day-old lunches were being served, according to the survey. In Indianapolis, USDA personnel said, there was no registration of participants in the program and no effort to determine eligibility.

In Detroit, lunches were said to be served indiscriminately to all children and some adults. In St. Louis, the evaluators said food was stored and transported under improper temperatures and sanitation conditions.

In Cincinnati, the report said, extra lunches were given to old-age homes, taken to local supermarkets and taken off-site to nonparticipating children. In Cleveland, lunches were served on a first-come, first-served basis.

In Albuquerque, N.M., children were reported taking as many as five lunches each, and storage and transport did not meet city sanitation and health requirements. In San Diego, as many as 15 lunches per child were served, and less than 10 per cent of the city's eligible children were reached because the program was not large enough.

In Long Beach and Los Angeles, Calif., food waste was termed excessive.

And in Vancouver, Wash., the report said, uninsulated containers for hot and cold foods posed a potential health problem.

McClellan In Trouble

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Democrats have refused to give veteran Sen. John L. McClellan a majority endorsement for nomination to a sixth term, forcing a politically risky runoff with Rep. David Pryor.

McClellan led the ticket as expected in Tuesday's primary, but his vote total was well below the majority in the four-man race that would have allowed him to escape the runoff.

The handsome Pryor, 37, recognizing that Arkansas incumbents traditionally have fared better in runoffs, predicted victory in the June 13 rematch, promising the voters "one of the most exciting races ever run in Arkansas."

McClellan, 76, whose age figured as a major issue, said he had demonstrated during the campaign that his age was not a handicap and that he was ready to wage a vigorous runoff campaign if necessary. He has been in the Senate for 30 years.
